Drainage study for access road

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer
The first step in a proposal to build an access road from the Nameoki shopping area to near downtown Granite City was taken by the City Council Monday night.

Acting on a resolution which called for an engineering study of drainage problems involved in such a project, the aldermen voted unanimously in favor of a motion by Alderman Roy Poulos that the city advertise for a consulting engineer to handle the study.

Mayor Paul Schuler, in response to a question by Alderman Sam Whitmer, said funds for the study would come from one of the city's federal revenue sharing accounts. He said no cost of the study is available pending the receipt of offers in response to the advertisement for proposals from engineering firms.

The proposed access road, according to the resolution calling for the drainage survey, would extend from Pontoon Road to 25th Street along the railroad right-of-way west of the Nameoki shopping area that includes Nameoki Village Shopping Center, Crossroads Plaza Shopping Center, the new Central Hardware store and K-Mart.

The proposal for such a new roadway has been studied by city officials and the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce in recent months as a means of relieving mounting traffic congestion in the shopping area resulting from the opening of new store facilities.

The resolution noted that the right-of-way proposed for the new roadway could be expected to pose problems in surface drainage, and that before further steps toward construction of the road were taken, a study should be made to resolve those problems.

Whitmer asked if the city "has decided one way or another if we are going to build this road, and if we are what are we going to build it with . . . We have two city engineers. Isn't it possible they could handle this work?"

Schuler replied that City Engineer Monroe Brewer and Assistant City Engineer Edward Schulze would be unable to make the study because of their present work loads.

"This proposal has developed in discussions with Chamber of Commerce representatives," Whitmer said. "They feel that an access road to the Nameoki area is needed because of the growing traffic problems resulting from the buildup of shopping facilities in this area. It was suggested that this feasibility study be made first before going further."

"I don't think we would have the funds for building this road tomorrow, but I think this study is worth considering. It's up to the council as to what will be done."

Alderman Walter Nonn described the project as "the most worthwhile job confronting the city."

Nonn said he has talked to "one man who is willing to donate right of way for this project, if the others are willing to do the same." Nonn said he believes the city should make an effort to get the right of way, without charge.

"I think we could cut a road along there, rock it and oil it and get by for a year or two before spending any great amount of money," Nonn said.

The council Monday night accepted the resignation of Edwin Reiske, president of the Tri-City Trades and Labor Council, as a member of the City Plan Commission.

Reiske told the council by letter that he has accepted the chairmanship of the trades council's Legislative Committee with the assurance that the would serve on no other committees.

New incident involving fake police officer

A Granite City woman who lives in the northern area of Madison Avenue said Wednesday a man in a dark blue coat knocked on her door at about 6:30 a.m. Wednesday and when she answered, said he was a policeman.

The man said he needed to use her telephone because there was a "woman hurt in the street."

She said she slammed the door rapidly before the man could enter, and called Granite City police.

The woman then looked out the door and said she saw the man leave in a blue automobile. Police were unable to locate a woman hurt in the street, and they believe the man's story had no basis in fact. No actual officer had been dispatched to the area prior to the man appearing in the doorway.

The case is being investigated to determine if it is connected with a Feb. 22 case in which a man wearing a uniform entered a home on Pontoon Road and raped a woman.

Competition for bridge

By WALTER STRANGE
Press-Record Staff Writer
The City of Madison has been asked by the Hamburg Construction Co. of St. Louis to delay the sale of the city-owned Chain of Rocks Bridge pending discussion of plans by the firm for a multi-million dollar development of the area, the Madison City Council was informed Tuesday night.

Bruno Nelson, vice-president of the construction firm, said in a letter that a group of financial backers is prepared to spend approximately $22 million on the project.

The information reached the council as it received and opened one bid for purchase of the bridge. No action was taken on the bid offer.

Hensel explained that development of the bridge area would be done in three phases. Phase one would include a restaurant on the bridge which would seat 1,300 persons; phase two, a six-story motel and shops; and phase three a marina and fast food services.

The letter said that when the project is completed about 250 persons would be employed, in addition to construction employment. First consideration for jobs would be given to

Train injures family

A woman and her 5-year-old daughter were pinned in their pickup truck for more than 15 minutes after the truck and a train collided at the 20th and Omaha Streets railroad crossing at 10:20 a.m. Tuesday.

The truck, suffered only minor injuries and was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Mrs. Susan Reiske Moore, 25, of 132 Hollywood Mobile Home Park, was transferred to St. Louis, with head injuries and possible fractures of her left hip and right heel.

The father, Robert V. Moore, 25, a Madison County Sheriff's Department deputy, driver of the truck, suffered only minor injuries, including an abrasion to his knee.

Witnesses said the eastbound truck started across the railroad tracks when a Granite City Steel train backed from the north end of the road into the camper truck, pushing the truck to its left and pinning the truck between a hopper car and the control box that operates the crossing lights.

The truck was crushed between the moving train car and the control box, until the concrete support for the box was uprooted and the unit fell over.

The camper on the back of the pickup truck was thrown to the north of the truck.

Police, ambulances and rescue units from the Granite City Fire Department were called to the scene and had to use hydraulic jacks to pry the dashboard away from the trapped passengers.

Both appeared to be unconscious when they were removed from the truck, first the child and minutes later the mother.

Moore stayed near the truck throughout the ordeal, asking rescue workers to hurry in freeing his wife and daughter.

Engineer of the train was Ray Allen, 2201 McCasland Ave., Madison.

Victor Mount, 2634 E. 24th St., said he drove in front of his home at 1:40 a.m. today and walked to his front porch when three men grabbed him and stole his wallet. He said the wallet contained $800 in bills of $100 and $50 denominations.

Diversity of steel orders bolsters employment base

By GAIL PURKEY
and WALTER GROGAN
Members of an SIUE Journalism Department advanced reporting class have written the following in response to a team reporting assignment in the field of community affairs.

With American business in a slump, and high unemployment across the country, the people of Granite City were probably expecting the mainstay of the city, Granite City Steel, to begin layoffs also.

Massive layoffs have not happened, and one of the major reasons layoffs have been minimized is because the company has a wide diversity of markets.

"We are not concentrated into supplying any one industry with steel," Robert D. McBride, vice-president and general manager of the steel plant, said.

"Our shipments to A. O. Smith—a Granite City plant that makes auto frames—are down, because we supply them with 100 per cent of their steel," McBride said.

A. O. Smith makes Chevrolet frames for the Fischer assembly plant in North St. Louis. "Their business is doing poorly, but we have been able to pick up the slack by producing more plates and galvanized products for heavier industries."

"Chicago and Detroit steel mills are doing poorly because they are primarily automotive suppliers," McBride added.

The major products at Granite City Steel are hot and cold rolled steel, sheets and plate steel, and galvanized products.

Hot rolled steel comes directly off the hot strip, with no further finishing operations. Some of that steel is sent to the cold mill, where it is rolled again to make a higher gauge steel, the cold roll.

Some cold rolled steel is then coated with zinc to make galvanized steel for heavy farm construction. Cold rolled steel is used by auto manufacturers, appliance makers and some toy companies.

Hot rolled steel is used for much the same type of products, but for different purposes; it cannot be formed as easily and is not as versatile as cold rolled steel.

Most of the plate steel goes to rail car production, heavy equipment, structural material and barge production.

The galvanized products, strong panel sheets of steel, are used to make roofing and galvanized Strongbarn sheets.

"The farm business is booming," McBride said, "as far as machine sheds, barns and other types of heavy construction."

"Usually this type of business slows off during the winter, but it is still very strong, and we expect it to continue this way through 1975."

The only reason for not selling more of this type of steel is that the company is "producing all of it (steel) that we can with the Top officials will help honor Sen. Vadalabene

Dignitaries led by Congressman Melvin Price and Governor Daniel Walker will be in attendance at the Sam M. Vadalabene appreciation dinner. Publicity Chairman Lucien B. Ringering announced today.

In addition to the congressman and governor, those who have indicated they will attend the March 14 event include Senator Cecil Faries, president of the Illinois Senate; Sen. William Harris, Senate minority leader; Rep. William Redmond, speaker of the Illinois House; and Rep. James R. Washburn, House minority leader.

"It's a good indication of the high regard in which Senator Sam is held by all of his colleagues that we will have the leadership from both sides of the aisle," Ringering said.

Richard Ferris, 25, of 2608 W. 20th St., remained in critical condition today in the intensive care unit of St. Elizabeth Hospital where he has been a patient since being injured at a Granite City Steel one week ago.

Ferris was reported to have been caught under a welding scooter weighing more than one ton when it overturned in a roadway at the steel plant. He suffered broken ribs and a broken collarbone.

"All of the members of the committee for the dinner are delighted that this event will have such a bi-partisan flavor."

In addition, a number of other members of the Senate and the House are expected to be in attendance at the dinner, which will be held in the Meridian Ballroom at Southern Illinois 304, Edwardsville, Ill. 62025.

Let pool repair contract

Contracts to repair outlet swimming pool and to erect four shelters within the park district were awarded by the Granite City Park Board Wednesday night.

A contract to repair the swimming pool was awarded to Triangle Heating Co. which submitted a low bid of $47,721. C. D. Peters Construction was contracted to erect four park shelters on a low bid of $11,745.

In other action taken by the board, a 25-cent per hour across the board pay increase was approved for 13 full-time employees. The increase in pay is effective immediately and will remain in force until the end of the current fiscal year, April 30, 1975.

A motion made by Barry Loman and seconded by Robert Patrick to approve a request by the city to locate a test well at Rode Park so that the Army Corps of Engineers can check the water table also was passed.

Incumbents file in school races

Incumbent board members of the three Quad-City school districts whose terms expire this year intend to seek reelection in the April 12 school board elections. It was indicated yesterday with the opening of the filing period.

Both board members whose terms expire on the Venice District 3 school board — Fred Rumpf and William Johnson — filed petitions for nomination at the Venice School Administration office yesterday, while two others, Charles Burger, 104 Third St., and John Boush, 433 Lincoln Ave., obtained petition forms.

In the Granite City School District election, Monroe Worthen, incumbent board member, filed nominating petitions. Also filing petitions yesterday was Thomas G. Miosky, 3133 Colgate Place, and Stan Welch, 3877 Rodney Drive.

A "Pete Metcalf, the other incumbent Granite City board member whose term expires this year, has obtained petition forms but had not yet filed today."

David Miskelley, incumbent board member of Madison School District 12, filed petitions yesterday. Petition forms have been obtained by Willie Walker, Mayor Paul Schaefer, and Thomas G. Miosky, the other incumbent board member whose term expires this year.

Each district is to elect two members of the three Quad-City districts to elect two members of their seven-man boards in the April 12 balloting. The filing period will continue through March 21.

Filing also opened yesterday for the Belleville Area College Board with only one of three incumbents who are up for reelection having filed. The Quad-City area this year is included in the BAC district.

Incumbent Edward F. O'Malley of Belleville was the first to file yesterday. Incumbents Frederick Lutz and Orison R. Seibert, both of the Belleville area, have not picked up petitions of candidacy and have indicated they may not seek reelection.

Also filing petitions of candidacy yesterday were: M. J. Justus, 106 W. Third St., Belleville; J. J. Chabok, chief of police; John A. Becker, 108 Norwood Drive, Sparta, and E. J. Kane, 32 Signal Point, Belleville.

Filing for BAC Board positions closes March 21.

Central Hardware opens

A large crowd of customers began gathering at 9 a.m. in front of the new Central Hardware store in the Crossroads shopping center on N. Main St. just south of Pontoon Road, which opened its doors at 9:30 a.m. today.

Mayor Paul Schaefer of Granite City officially cut the ribbon, marking the formal opening of the new store.

Others participating in the "ribbon cutting" were Edward F. Reiske, executive vice-president of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce; Stanley Cohen president of Central Hardware Co.; Arthur Dummelle, manager of the new store, and Ronald Alward of Inero, Inc., the parent company, in addition to store supervisors and employees.

The "super hardware store" is the largest of the company's 21 stores which began new jobs. Most of the employees are from the Quad-Cities.

Reiske was the store's first customer as he bought six light bulbs on sale for $1.

The store will be open weekdays from 9:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Sundays from 11 a.m. until 7 p.m.

Seek special meet on sale of wharf

The Bi-State Development Agency board will be requested at a meeting today to call a special meeting in which would give the Granite City wharf and river terminal to the Tri-City Regional Port District.

On Feb. 14, the Bi-State board unanimously voted to accept the local port district's offer of $730,000 for the Granite City terminal facilities, contingent on preparation and acceptance of sale contracts and related documents.

The Bi-State also is expected at the special meeting to consider a proposed "memorandum of understanding" which would give Bi-State increased authority to coordinate port planning.

At the meeting, the Bi-State dock, warehouse and nearby transportation facilities at the Granite City wharf now owned and operated by Bi-State.

Tri-City Port is immediately north of the Bi-State terminal on the Chain of Rocks Canal.

Flexible phone rates rejected

The Illinois Commerce Commission yesterday rejected a proposal for flexible rates in the U.S. have a fuel justification clause enabling them to pass along higher costs, but the ICC rejected the proposal from Illinois Bell as "tantamount to an abdication" of the commission's regulatory authority.

ICC also ruled that the firm may have been overcharging under a current rate structure, and ordered it to show cause why refunds shouldn't be required.

Illinois Bell was the first Bell operating subsidiary to seek such a rate plan. It called for monthly adjustments in customers' bills to reflect changes in costs, equaling half the actual cost increase or decrease.

Any added revenue needed to recover higher costs would have been earned through higher efficiency, if efficiency fell, the plan could reduce revenue. The ICC said it would continue to set a rate-of-return (profit) ceiling.

The ICC said Illinois Bell was exceeding the level of revenue authorized 14 months ago by approximately $15 million a year. "A show cause hearing will be held March 18.

The commission on Dec. 21, 1974, had set an 8.5 per cent rate of return for Illinois Bell.

Illinois Bell said Wednesday it will seek a rehearing on flexible rates, oppose any refunds and seek conventional rate hikes.

Burglary charge against GC man

James Rodger Parrish, 23, of 2010 Washington Ave., was charged with burglary after Granite City police officers alleged finding him inside Mercer Mortuary, 1416 Niedringhaus Ave., at 12:40 a.m. Wednesday.

A witness told police he saw a man under the canopy on the east side of the funeral home and heard glass breaking.

Officers found a 30-inch by 72-inch frosted glass window to the chapel broken and entered through the window.

Parrish allegedly was found in the lobby. Six floral arrangements had been knocked over and broken, police said.

Officers also reported a glass pane was broken in an overhead door facing Grand Avenue in a previous attempt to enter the building, which was presumed unsuccessful.

TOOLS ARE STOLEN
Lloyd Cook, 1708 Minerva Ave., reported at 5:40 p.m. Tuesday that tools valued at about $150 were stolen from his home. It could not be determined how entry was gained. Madison County sheriff's deputies said.

residents of Madison, Hensel said.

The letter asked the city to provide a legal description of property on the Illinois side of the river with a survey of the property and approval of the U. S. Army Corp of Engineers, the U. S. Coast Guard and the State of Illinois to build on the bridge.

Other items requested by the construction company include: a description of land on the Missouri side, cost to lease or purchase land, topographical and aerial photographs, zoning verification, evidence of available utilities and a statement of the condition of the bridge.

The council opened a bid from Charles E. Wilson and Associates of Lansing, Mich., offering $103,000 for the bridge. The bid offer was accompanied by a check for $10,300, a 10 per cent deposit, stipulated in the bid specifications. Wilson agreed in his letter to comply with all regulations.

Wilson and Associates did not specify in the bid what it intends doing with the bridge. Charles Wilson, son of the bidder, was present at the council session but made no comment. He requested a meeting with the Bridge committee.

Some city officials said they believe the Wilson firm wants to dismantle the bridge for the steel salvage.

The bidder must obtain approval and permits from the U. S. Coast Guard and the Army Corps of Engineers to acquire the bridge. The sale is subject to the approval of all governmental agencies concerned.

The proposed sale is limited to the bridge superstructure, all supporting structures, pilings and accessory objects. No real estate owned by the city on which the bridge is built or adjacent to the bridge will be included in the sale according to the original bid specification.

Hensel was present at the council meeting and provided a set of blue prints he asked to show the council. Attending with Hensel was Frank Curie of Trans-World Financial Co. of St. Louis.

Mayor Sasysk referred the matter to the Bridge committee and legal department and requested those officials make a recommendation at the next meeting.

"It will be up to the council as to what we do," Mayor Sasysk said. "We do have one firm bid and the request for extension from the Hamburg company. I would not want anything to happen that would jeopardize the firm bid."

"You (Hensel) and a representative of the Wilson company will have a chance to meet within the next week with the Bridge committee and our legal department on your request, and they will make a recommendation at the next council meeting," Sasysk said.

Members of the Bridge committee are Aldermen Robert Don Reeves, chairman, who was absent due to illness at Tuesday's meeting, Mike Sikora, John Haynes, Ray Kozielek and Don Broyles.

Madison purchased the Chain of Rocks Bridge in 1929 on a 25 year bond retirement plan and refinanced it in 1948, after which part of the bridge profits went to the city treasury. The bridge is located in Chouteau Township.

The city was made tax-free for one year and then expanded its services, built sewers, streets, curbs and sidewalks and amassed a $2½ million cash reserve from bridge toll collections.

The cash balance was used to erect the Maeras Industrial Park and provide for new industry in the city.

Income-producing traffic on the bridge ended in 1967, but the bridge remained open as a free bridge until April 1970 when it was closed to all traffic.

Nameoki gives answers, but most issues still unsettled

Answers to six questions posed by Madison officials in regard to cooperation between the city and Nameoki Township in providing services for parts of East Madison were discussed by the Nameoki Town Board of Auditors at the board's regular meeting Monday night and were sent on to Madison Mayor Mike Sasyk for his reactions.

The town board and Madison city officials have met on several occasions to discuss the responsibilities of the two government entities in regards to fire protection, street maintenance, crossing lights and other issues where disagreements have remained unresolved.

The questions were prepared by Sasyk and members of his committee and were submitted to Township Auditor Norman Hessler who wrote the answers after consulting with the other auditors. The board approved sending the answers to Sasyk. One surprise question from Sasyk was whether the Nameoki Township auditors would be receptive to Venice Township annexing the East Madison area which now is within the Madison city limits.

Hessler's answer was that Illinois statutes do not allow townships to annex that right is reserved for villages and cities.

Sasyk said Tuesday he does not know if the law was quoted correctly, but said he does not intend to pursue the issue. He said he had not consulted Venice Township officials prior to finding out if Nameoki Township would be willing to give up the East Madison area. Another question was would the township furnish materials to improve Parrish Street, if the Madison Street Department would do the improvement work.

The auditors answered that it should be determined who is responsible for maintaining the street and that entity should provide the materials and labor.

Sasyk said he will investigate who is responsible for the street, which is on a borderline of the city's limits.

Sasyk asked if the township would maintain the two school crossing lights at Sixth Street and McCambridge Avenue which are not in the city limits, if the city would maintain the two on the city's side of the roadway.

The township also was requested to pay the salary of crossing guards at that crossing.

The answer from the Town Board was that Nameoki Township residents pay taxes to the Madison School District and the school district is responsible for providing crossing safety guards and lights for areas not in a city.

Sasyk further asked if the township would give some of its federal revenue sharing funds to Madison for services the city provides in the East Madison area within the city limits.

The town board replied that area receives benefits from the township's environmental cleanup and health programs as well as from the town hall expansion program now underway. Those are the main programs for which revenue sharing is being used, it was noted.

Sasyk responded that the East Madison area within the city does not benefit from those programs. "We take care of all the cleanup there and those people receive nothing whatsoever from Nameoki Township. The township just gets the benefits."

Another question was whether the township would supply material for blacktopping alleys in the area, if Madison would do the work.

Hessler's answer noted that road projects are the responsibility of Nameoki Township Highway Commissioner Albert Bell and such questions should be referred to him.

One of the oldest unresolved questions which Sasyk posed was who is to be responsible for the costs of fire calls in that area. He requested that the township guarantee the Madison Volunteer Fire Department some compensation for each call it makes in the area when the homeowner will not pay for the call.

The Town Board responded that fire insurance policies are available which will provide $250 coverage to fire departments for each call it makes to a house.

"It is the individual homeowner's responsibility" to purchase such insurance, the response noted.

It further was reported that Nameoki Township has applied for a Community Development grant and plans to earmark $4,000 of the money to aid in setting up a fire protection program, if the grant money is approved.

In other business, the Town Board agreed to withhold payment of $8,900 to the county which is owed as partial payment on a bridge which was constructed in State Park Place as a cooperative venture between the township and the county.

Township Supervisor Louis Whitsell said he wanted to investigate when the money actually is due to the county so the township may benefit from interest earned on the deposited money as long as possible.

The board agreed to pay $565 to the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission as its share of the cost of the commission's operations for the 1975-76 fiscal year.

Couple is hurt

Stephen Kraus, 22, and his wife, Mrs. Vickie Kraus, 22, both of 1721 Ferguson Ave., were treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital about 10 p.m. Tuesday after they were hurt in an auto accident.

Kraus suffered abrasions to his left knee and leg and injuries to his right leg. X-rays were taken and he was released. Mrs. Kraus was admitted to the hospital with a head injury.

James Ward dies suddenly

James Percy Ward, 66, of 1733 Moro Ave., became ill at home and was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he was pronounced dead upon arrival at 2:12 p.m. Tuesday.

He retired in 1974 as a foreman for the East Side Levee and Sanitary District where he was employed 22 years.

Mr. Ward was a member of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church and belonged to VFW Post 1300, American Legion Post 113, Eagles Aerie 1126 and the American Association of Retired Persons, Chapter 1340. Club to spotlight wisdom of wearing construction hard hat

Michael Mark has submitted a winning slogan, Safety Protection On Top (Spot Club), as the Safety Committee of the Southern Illinois Builders Association.

Purpose of the Spot Club is to promote use of safety head protection (hard hats) on all construction projects in Southern Illinois.

Mark, an Iron Workers Local 392 apprentice, was presented a $25 U.S. savings bond by Harry Niemann, chairman of the SIBA Safety Committee.

The committee conducted a contest among all apprentice programs sponsored by the Southern Illinois Builders Association to devise a slogan for the program.

All construction workers in Southern Illinois are eligible to become members of the Spot Club by submission of an application form, accompanied by a copy of a first-aid or compensation report—or verification in writing by witnessing parties—that a serious accident was prevented because the construction worker was wearing a hard hat.

Each member admitted to the club will receive a certificate setting forth the history of the accident, a hard hat bearing the Spot Club slogan, and a wallet identification card.

The awards will be retroactive from Jan. 1, 1974.

Anyone who feels he could qualify for this award may contact the Southern Illinois Builders Association for the necessary application and submit it to the Safety Committee for review.

The committee will be the sole judge of who is to become a member of the club.

The first presentation of Spot Club awards will be made at the annual SIBA safety awards banquet on April 19.

Dennis Wall, 23, of Cottage Hills, was brought to St. Elizabeth Hospital at 11:15 p.m. Monday suffering a gunshot wound to the palm of his left hand and his left forearm. Officials are investigating the shooting which they believe occurred in the East Alton area. Wall was admitted to the hospital.

HURTS BACK, NECK

Stephen Bruner, 22, Collinsville, was injured in an auto accident and was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 5:20 p.m. Monday. He said his auto was struck from behind by another car, causing injuries to his back and neck. He was released from the hospital.

'Update' plan viewed at Madison

Most merchants who have followed development suggestions by "Update," a Greenville, Ill., firm of urban planners, designers and architects, have experienced an increase in sales of at least 21 per cent, Madison City Council members were told Tuesday night during a presentation by Allen W. Johnson, president of the Update firm.

The presentation was given following adjournment of the regular Madison council meeting to demonstrate major improvements, which Johnson said can be accomplished in a downtown area of older buildings at minimum cost.

Johnson said his firm has completed 13 Update programs in Illinois during the past two years. He showed slides of some of the work done in Pontiac, Taylorville, Bloomington, Woodstock and other communities.

Johnson explained that his company uses what it calls "squatters' technique." If a city or merchants' organization wants its services, the firm moves into the community and sets up an office so that it can communicate face to face with the business leaders and the customers in an effort to improve business conditions.

Update representatives hold both formal and informal meetings with merchants, community leaders and the shoppers, he said.

"It's important to get something started, get something moving and you motivate shoppers," Johnson said.

"The image the downtown area or individual store presents is very important. There really are two images. One is the first story of a building. This needs to be attractive to the pedestrian as people driving in can't see the first story well. When a person drives into a downtown area they see the second story. Frequently the second floor is unattended, and with the right color scheme, paint can bring out the real beauty of many buildings."

He showed "before and after" slides of several buildings made attractive with the right colors. Johnson also emphasized the importance of the use of alleys and back entrances and stressed the importance of parking.

"You need a central downtown theme. It could be western or early English or historical, but a downtown needs a unified appearance so people know they are in downtown," Johnson added.

Asked by Alderman Donald Broyles about cost, Johnson said $14,500 would provide a master plan from Second to 14th streets on Madison avenue, setting up an office in Madison, a plan for a special project such as a mall, and several large paintings and detailed blowups.

The cost to the merchants for the firm's help in designing and making recommendations for improvements is based at $3 a foot, measuring the front of the store with a 25-foot maximum

Mayor Mike Sasyk told the council: "I hope you have been impressed as much as I with this presentation, but before I ask the council to appropriate any money for this we will take the pulse of our business community."

"We will have a meeting Friday, March 7, at 7 p.m. in the firemen's hall with the merchants. I think there is a real future for the downtown Madison area if we as a city administration, and our business men, become aggressive. If we become aggressive, we will grow."

Diversity

capacity we have and the steel we have available.

"With more steel available, we'd probably sell more building products," McBride said.

A downturn in shipments of slabs of steel from two other National Steel divisions was the reason for a recent layoff of 300 workers at Granite City's hot strip mill.

"At present, various furnaces throughout the operation are down for repairs, inventories are low, and other divisions of National Steel are using all their steel for their own purposes."

"Later on this year they will be able to start shipping to us again," McBride said.

There has been a worldwide demand for steel, according to McBride, "so now we have a shortage situation."

"Last year, the United States could not provide enough steel to fill the requirements within the country. But the world market was wide, imports came in, and there was enough for everybody."

"Now with recession generally worldwide, the Japanese and Europeans will come in cutting their prices, trying to increase their imports to this country," McBride believes.

However, because the overall demand is still there, and business hasn't slumped that much, McBride feels that the United States will be able to absorb its own steel-producing capacity in 1975.

Recently, National Steel allocated a large expenditure between its three steel-integrated divisions. None of the money will be spent for entirely new major facilities at the Granite City mill, but there will be spending for the improvement of existing facilities, said McBride.

The largest amount of money will be concentrated in the primary end of the production — the blast furnace area.

This will increase production of the two blast furnaces from 4,000 to 5,000 tons of iron per day. They will put the shop at full capacity, about 2½ million tons per year, the official noted.

"Our hot strip mill has an ultimate capacity of maybe five million tons a year, so we will still need a major expansion program to give us additional iron and steelmaking facilities to fill the hot mill," McBride said.

"That way, we would be totally independent and could produce everything to fill our hot mill's capacity without having to bring in steel from other divisions to keep it at a high volume rate."

Granite City Steel has plans for a major expansion in the future, but immediate plans are to improve present operations. This would result in a 20 per cent increase in total ingot production, according to McBride.

Also, Granite City Steel recently began a reclamation project to recover oil used in the steelmaking process.

The recovery plant recycles 40,000 gallons of oil a month, Harlie Love, the plant's environmental technology manager, said.

The short-term economic outlook for Granite City Steel includes some possible layoffs, McBride said, but for the range he sees "a steady rate of production, the probability of future expansion and, therefore, steady employment."

TREATED AT HOSPITAL

Mrs. Patricia Chosich, 22, of 2432 Madison Ave., was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital at 3:10 p.m. Monday after she said she struck her head on a window during an auto accident. X-rays were taken and she was released.

Disaster meeting March 19

A meeting to aid businesses, groups and agencies in coping with natural disasters has been called for March 19 by Col. Thorwald R. Peterson, district engineer.

Col. Peterson commented this week that "last March, my Disaster Preparedness Task Force of the St. Louis, Federal Executive Board sponsored an all-day seminar on the topic, 'The Great Flood of 1973'."

"Although the public and agency response was gratifying and the presentations were informative, I do not believe there is a need to conduct such a formal and elaborate meeting every year."

"From the discussion that took place last year, we gained the impression that the various governmental agencies, the service groups or institutions and the private industries that act or react during emergencies do not fully understand the inter-relationships of missions, capabilities and timing of services."

"We, therefore, came to believe that all of the groups involved in the area of disaster preparedness or civil defense could benefit from a roundtable discussion where we could learn more about our different roles and how we may interact more effectively when the need arises."

"We would certainly welcome any suggestions for improving the discussions."

The meeting is scheduled for 9 a.m. Wednesday, March 19 in Room 1046, U.S. Army Engineer District, St. Louis, 210 N. 12th St., St. Louis, Mo. 63101.

The agenda follows:
9 a.m., welcoming remarks by Col. Peterson on the mission of the Disaster Preparedness Task Force, Federal Executive Board, St. Louis.

9:05 a.m., individual presentations by agencies on emergency missions, capabilities and coordination with other agencies.

12 noon, a question and answer session and a general discussion by all attendees.
12:45 to 1 p.m., summary by Col. Peterson.

Venice town budget fixed at $238,847

A new Venice Township budget totaling $238,847—including $34,495 for the township road fund—was posted for public inspection at the Venice Township office, Fifth Street and Madison Avenue, this week.

Supervisor Christ Pashoff said the new budget bills will remain on public display pending public hearings that will be held at 7 p.m. March 25 for the road fund budget, and at 7:30 p.m. the same day on the township and general assistance budgets.

The appropriation measures will be subject to approval at the annual town meeting April 6 in the Venice City Hall.

The new town fund budget totals $88,152, an increase of $5,912 over last year's budget of $82,240, while the general assistance fund budget totaling $91,350 is a boost of $9,450 over the budget last year of $81,900.

For municipal retirement purposes the new budget projects expenditures of $24,650, up from $17,650 last year. Road fund expenditures are budgeted at $34,495, a drop of $1,240 from last year's budget of $35,735.

LOOT CAR WASH OFFICE: About $5 cash was all officials noticed missing from a car wash in the 2200 block of Madison Ave., it was reported at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday. Two glass panes in the front door were broken and a desk in the office was ransacked.

Granite City District said that the new office was opened in the shopping center to make room for equipment additions at the 2107 Edison building as the company prepares for the introduction of a new electronic switching system.

Scheduled to take place in early 1976, the conversion of some 16,800 customer accounts in Granite City, Venice and Madison to electronic switching will bring a variety of new services which will be offered to customers whose phone numbers begin with 451, 452, 877, and 876.

Included will be a group of special service features known as custom calling services. These include call forwarding, by which a person can program their telephone through the electronic switching system machinery to forward their calls to another number; call waiting, which signals that you are receiving another call while you are talking; and three-way calling which allows the person to add another party to a two-way conversation.

In addition to these services, touch-tone calling will continue to be available. After the conversion to electronic switching, customers usually notice that their calls go through more quickly, particularly in the case of local calls.

The Granite City conversion is among the first in the area, the nearest Illinois Bell city with an electronic switching system of the size to be installed in Granite City is Alton.

The 18 Illinois farmers selected by other farmers to represent them on the Illinois Soybean Program Operating Board gave evidence at their February meeting at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale that they are capable of getting at the meat of research proposals presented by university faculty members.

Fifteen of the 18 board members were present to hear 13 research proposals.

The proposals ranged from developing nutritious and tasty low-cost soybean food products for the elderly to improving soybean production and marketing. The board chairman named a four-member committee to evaluate the proposals.

Each of the board members is a soybean producing farmer with acreages varying from 100 to more than 1,000. The 18 also grow corn in quantity, and most said they grow wheat and produce beef cattle and hogs.

The board's job is to administer the substantial funds now being obtained from the fractional cent per bushel checkoff on the state's soybean production for promoting this major Illinois cash crop through market development and research.

Soybean growers who don't want to take part have the right to request refunds of their checkoff contributions.

The checkoff for 1974 was one-fourth cent per bushel. This increases to one-half cent in 1975 and succeeding years.

The checkoff program was authorized in a referendum of the state's soybean farmers.

Board chairman Allan Alves of Kirkland says the board apparently has done a good job in selling the program, since refund requests so far amount to only about one per cent of the checkoff collections. That is better than most states where the same kind of program is in effect.

Board members representing the seven districts comprising much of the southern half of the state were present.

They are: District 12, Kendall Cole of Virden; district 13, Dale Halford of Nokomis; district 14, Donald E. Latch, Route Two, Effingham; district 15, LeRoy Kruse, Route Two, Mascoutah; district 16, Earl J. Raber, Route Two, Mt. Carmel; district 17, Richard Blakely, Route One, Tamaroa; and district 18, Patrick Scates Jr., Shawneetown. Scates is the board secretary.

Research proposals represented several different aspects of growing soybeans: Evaluating chemicals for weed control, double cropping, better use of fertilizer usage, and other practices to increase yields, improve bean plant performance and reduce labor in animal feed.

Lee and James Males, another faculty member, want to study acid treatments for soybean meal used as protein supplements for cattle and sheep on winter feeds of low-cost crop residues, such as cornstalk fodder and grass roughages.

They suggest that the acid treatment will increase the efficiency of soybean meal in the livestock ration to improve performance of animals on low-cost roughage feeding programs. Hinters propose to improve the use of soybean products in poultry rations.

A whole series of proposals covers various aspects of growing soybeans: Evaluating chemicals for weed control, double cropping, better use of fertilizer usage, and other practices to increase yields, improve bean plant performance and reduce labor in animal feed.

A. J. Pappelis, a botany professor, suggested research to further refine his studies of soybean stem cell death rates and plant susceptibility to stem diseases, especially brown stem rot.

Donald Lybeck of the agriculture industries department proposed studies on the economic impact of the current energy restrictions.

Others want to study the impact of changing soybean market prices on markets for Illinois soybeans. Frank Konishi, chairman of the food and nutrition department, wants to develop a low-cost, nutritious and tasty soybean food for elderly people.

Steel, government employment are holding firm in this region

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD
Thurs., Feb. 27, 1975 Page 9

and MARK HODAPP
(This article attempts to assess local industrial employment prospects and city governmental financial needs. It was produced by members of an advanced reporting class of the SITE Journalism Department, during a team reporting assignment in the field of community affairs.)

Three hundred persons were recently laid off at Granite City Steel Company. The reason given for the one week layoff was a lack of steel slabs for rolling. Although officials say the recent cutbacks have nothing to do with the general economic conditions, five per cent of the total employment at the plant was affected by the temporary layoff.

According to Harry Wilson, a public relations spokesman for Granite City Steel, the capacity of the hot strip mill is greater than that of the slab-producing facilities.

Usually, the difference is balanced by shipping slabs in from other National Steel Corporation divisions. Granite City Steel is a subsidiary of National Steel.

Granite City Steel maintains a peak employment of over 5,000 persons, including company and hourly employees. Of these most recently laid off, approximately 210 were on the mill crew and 90 others were in plant areas directly affected by the cutback in rolling production.

State Rep. Horace Calvo, D-Granite City, an attorney for the United Steelworkers, said that the only thing he knows of that might help this region's economy is a bill granting state pay increases, recently signed by Gov. Walker.

"They haven't been getting the orders," he said in regard to some St. Louis Metropolitan area manufacturers. "They can't keep going if nobody's buying."

The automobile industry, one of the nation's top users of steel, is recording its second worst economic slump in 11 years. Car sales are down 23 per cent from the same period last year.

Approximately 260,000 workers will be laid off this month, as companies close their plants in order to reduce inventories of unsold new cars. Granite City Steel makes steel for the A. O. Smith Corp. plant in Granite City, an automobile frame manufacturer, as well as many other customers.

Housing and construction trades, other users which consume large amounts of steel, have reached an ominous, rock-bottom level. Very little new construction is being done these days in this region and nationally.

Statistics released by the Federal Reserve Board show that consumers reduced their indebtedness last November by $402 million.

This reveals a severe drop in borrowing — for cars, appliances, mortgages and personal loans.

State Senator Sam Vadala, D-Edwardsville, said he is not aware of any specific serious problems in the Granite City area. He does not foresee anything as drastic as the shutting down of Granite City Steel or other major plants.

"Since they merged with National Steel, they have undergone a period of expansion, and still are expanding," he said of Granite City Steel.

Vadala pointed out that much steel is used in highway production and for other purposes.

What about people who are already jobless? The Labor Department has announced the funding of $1.8 million for public service jobs.

The monies will be distributed to local governments in Madison and Bond counties by the Office of Manpower Development. Approximately 200 jobs could be created and made available to the unemployed.

Like nearly all American cities, Granite City will face financial difficulties in the near future.

City Treasurer Paul Rutledge has reported to the City Council that the city will face a serious money shortage by late March. Granite City is short of money for a reason. According to Mayor Paul Schuler, the city has paid $1,200,000 for sewer breaks. These repairs became necessary when Chouteau Island flooded in the spring of 1973, and the underground water level rose.

Repairs are continuing. With the completion of some of these repairs, the city will become eligible for $300,000 from the federal government.

A city auditor is presently preparing all records necessary for federal inspection. The city hopes to receive this money early this summer.

The mayor went to Washington, D.C., on Jan. 23 to try to free some federal money.

This money was disallowed by the Federal Disaster Assistance Agency (FDAA) but an appeal by the city led to a favorable ruling and the city expects to receive between $300,000 and $400,000 from the FDAA.

Until this money breaks loose, however, the city will have to cut back on several city programs.

Things like sidewalk repairs, surface drainage projects and a new fire station may take a back seat to paying city employee salaries and other obligations owed by the city.

Mayor Schuler said that $561,000 in federal revenue sharing money can be transferred into the General Revenue Fund. This should cover city expenses until other forms of income are received.

Transferred funds are repaid at the beginning of the fiscal year. Schuler said that part of this money could be repaid when the city receives these expected funds.

If the federal money comes soon, the city will face little more than the problems associated with a few broken sidewalks and aging fire stations.

Schuler is optimistic almost to the point of intransigence over federal help. If, however, these federal monies do not break free, and are held up in red tape, the city will have to make some new plans.

Despite the money crunch, Granite City gives the impression of facing the future confidently.

If there are any subtle rumblings in the financial foundation of the city, they are covered with outpourings of confidence by officials.

Of course, confidence itself doesn't pay the bills.

Schools to salute Pulaski March 3

A commemorative holiday in honor of Casimir Pulaski, Polish patriot and American revolutionary war general, will be observed Monday, March 3, in Illinois. State Superintendent of Education Joseph M. Cronin announced this week.

Commemorative holidays are regular school days designed to provide special recognition to persons or occasions of historical, patriotic, civic and cultural importance.

The observation on Monday, which was established by state law enacted in 1973, marks the birthday of a man who fought for liberty in his native Poland and then volunteered for service in the cause of American independence.

Pulaski became a general in 1777 after distinguishing himself in battle at Brandywine and later assisted George Washington and his troops during their harsh winter at Valley Forge, Pa. He was mortally wounded in 1779 in an attack on Savannah, Ga.

In announcing the commemoration, Supt. Cronin commented, "I fully endorse the idea of honoring our nation's ethnic groups and individuals for the roles and impact they have had in the course of American history."

"Casimir Pulaski's life serves not only as a source of ethnic pride among the more than 70,000 Polish-Americans in Illinois, but also as a model of the spirit which has sustained this country for 200 years."

May explore for oil on SIUC land

A campus advisory group's recommendation that Southern Illinois University at Carbondale negotiate leases for oil exploration on university land will be taken up with the SIUC Board of Trustees by SIUC President Warren W. Brandt.

Brandt said Monday that he had not yet received the Campus Natural Areas Committee's recommendations on oil leasing — reached Friday afternoon — and would not comment until he had read them through.

"I'm looking forward to receiving their recommendations," Brandt said. He said he would then decide whether to take the recommendations to the trustees in their present form, or to ask for modifications.

Committee Chairman Gilbert H. Kroening, dean of the SIUC School of Agriculture, said the group's recommendations have not yet been put into final form. He said Brandt should receive them by the end of this week.

Recommendations will be circulated to each committee member for final comment before they are submitted to Brandt, according to Kroening. The campus committee decided by an 8-2 vote to recommend that SIUC begin negotiations with Apco—a Texas oil firm—for exploratory petroleum leases on a 900-acre tract of SIUC land south-west of Carbondale.

The recommendations — compiled after two months of deliberations — say that any lease negotiated should protect "educational areas, research capabilities, environmental and esthetic values and public opinion." Also called for was specific university approval of proposed drilling sites.

Apco first approached SIUC last fall to negotiate oil leases on university land. The company offered to lease the property for $5 per acre for the first year, and $1 per acre for following years. In addition, royalties of three-sixteenths of wellhead production were offered.

Gonzalez Fund benefit dance

The fifth annual dance to benefit the Joseph Gonzalez Scholarship Fund will take place at 9 p.m. Saturday at the Mexican Honorary Commission Hall, 1801 Spruce St. (formerly the Hungarian Home).

Sponsored by the Mexican Honorary Commission, all proceeds from the dance will be contributed to the scholarship fund, Robert Robles, president, said.

Two $500 scholarship grants have been awarded each year since the fund was established in memory of Joseph Gonzalez, a Granite City High School teacher, who died of injuries sustained in a traffic accident in June 1970. Mr. Gonzalez was a member of the Mexican Honorary Commission.

The dance is open to the public and donations of $1.50 per person will be sought at the door Saturday night. Music will be provided by Wayne Scannell and "The Casuals." Homemade Mexican food will be available during the evening and prizes will be awarded, Robles said.

Mrs. Alvenette Metcalf is serving as hostess for the 1975 fund-raising dance.

Robles announced the commission has set May 17 for the traditional "Cinco de Mayo" fiesta. The public event will be held at the Croatian Home in Madison.

Missionary from Ghana speaks

In observance of "Focus Week," the Women's Missionary Union held an enrichment tea this week at the Third Baptist Church. More than 32 attended.

White lace cloths covered the luncheon tables and appointments reflected a Washington's Birthday theme. Centerpieces were pots of bright red tulips.

Mrs. Irma Richardson, a missionary on furlough from Ghana, was the guest speaker. Attired in native dress, she described the work being accomplished in that African nation and the projects in which she and her husband, Dr. Bill Richardson, are engaged.

Mrs. Richardson displayed several articles brought here from Ghana, commenting about their significance to the Ghanaian people.

The Rev. Roy Johnson, pastor, gave the opening meditations and the Rev. John Nading, associate pastor, sang "Breaking of the Bread," accompanied at the piano by his wife.

Mrs. Hazel Atchison was in charge of the afternoon tea and introduced the guest speaker. A special program concerning the Annie Armstrong Easter offering for home missions will be held Tuesday at Third Baptist Church. Theme of the "Focus Week" event is "Herein Is Hope."

ORGANIZING PROTEST. Members of the Graceland General Baptist Church, 2033 Johnson Road, are organizing a trip to Springfield on Friday to protest the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA). Mrs. Josephine Smith, standing, will be the spokeswoman and is reviewing plans with a committee Wednesday at the church. Seated in front are Mrs. Mildred Lovejoy, left, and Mrs. Pat Campbell; in back are Mrs. Ruth Maynard, left, and Mrs. Mary Chester.

Church group to protest ERA

Members of Graceland General Baptist Church, 2033 Johnson Road, hope to take 360 area persons, both men and women, to Springfield Friday to protest the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA). Six buses carrying the delegation are to leave here at 6 a.m.

According to Mrs. Josephine Smith who will serve as spokeswoman, they intend to call on local state legislators, including State Senator Sam M. Vadalabene (D-Edwardsville) and voice their objections.

Last week the congregation voted to oppose the ERA legislation and to organize the protest trip.

"Many of us feel that we will get more action if we go as a group, and we hope those who can't go with us will write the governor and the representatives in Springfield and let them know how they feel," the Rev. Earl Lovejoy said.

Members of the church are distributing a question and answer sheet titled "Ladies! Have you heard?" which points out objections to the amendment.

The people of Graceland Baptist Church are against the ERA because "It is contrary to the will of God and strikes at the foundation of family life, our homes, and our nation," Mrs. Smith said.

When 38 states ratify the ERA, it will become the 27th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. At one time, 33 states had ratified; but Nebraska and Tennessee have since rescinded their ratification, according to Rev. Lovejoy.

Persons wishing a copy of the informational sheet or more information on the Springfield trip or the ERA issue may call Mrs. Smith at 876-7942 or Rev. Lovejoy at 452-3382.

Protest higher commissary costs

A retired U. S. Army master sergeant is protesting the proposed higher cost of food and other goods at military commissaries, calling the lower prices traditionally paid by the military as "a fringe benefit — considered a form of pay whenever pay increase was debated."

Master Sergeant Es Clifford T. Yarbrough, U. S. Army (Ret'd), 6 William John Court, today is standing outside the commissary at the Granite City Army Installation seeking signature signatures on a letter the ex-serviceman has written to U. S. Rep. Melvin Price (D-East St. Louis), chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

Yarbrough's quest for supporting action from military families using the commissary is the result of a new Department of Defense policy announced earlier this month and expected to be implemented Oct. 1, 1978.

The DOD policy noted that commissaries have been borne by the government, with consumers paying costs described as "close to wholesale."

To help alleviate the operational expenditures, commissary customers are to pay for 50 per cent of the operating cost beginning Oct. 1, 1978, and all of such costs by Oct. 1, 1978, the DOD recently announced.

The local serviceman and his wife, Joan, are planning to remain near the commissary entrance at the Granite City Army base through Saturday. Their mission is emphasized by a large sign inscribed "Save

Our Commissary."

Yarbrough said about 28,000 retired military people reside in the bi-state metropolitan area. The new DOD policy not only affects us here but at all service commissaries such as Scott Air Force Base and elsewhere, the retired non-commissioned officer said. He expects a similar campaign to be planned by military retirees using the Scott AFB commissary.

Yarbrough retired in 1968, having served 26 years in the Armed Forces. He lived in Granite City prior to entering the service and he and his wife returned here after his retirement.

He is employed as a supervisor by Harvard's Interior Manufacturing Co. St. Louis. The letter-petition to be delivered to Cong. Price reads in part thusly:

"We, the undersigned, members of the military community, respectfully request your assistance in the rejecting of proposals to increase the commissary system surcharge."

"Historically, the commissary benefit has been considered a form of pay whenever a pay increase was debated. This was accepted by the military along with medical care and a noncontributory retirement system as a valid reason to keep cash remuneration at a lower level."

"A commissary surcharge was mandated by Congress to recover costs of equipment used by the commissaries without a pay readjustment, which in effect was a reduction in pay, and now another increase is being requested which will increase the grocery bill 12 to 15 per cent."

"To arbitrarily make such a change is a breach of contract made with over a million retired citizens who have given 20 to 40 years of their lives in military service on the word of your fellow congressmen."

"This proposal, if enacted, will also create a grave problem in recruiting and retaining people in the service and could solve more problems than it solves."

"Part of a soldier's oath is 'to bear true faith and allegiance' and to receive it is to return it."

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Evelyn McDowell; a daughter, Mrs. Woodrow (Mildred) Crismon of Granite City; two sons, Glen of Granite City and Kenneth of Madison; a sister, Mrs. Pearl Reeves of Granite City; and a niece, Mrs. Helen Thompson of Pontoon Beach.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. tomorrow at a Dixon, Mo., funeral home.

"Y" INDIAN GUIDE TREAT. Indian Guides met at the Tri-City Area YMCA this week for a monthly federation session, and a special treat was provided. Dave Ellis, a pastry cook, had prepared a cake using the insignia of the "Y" Indian Guides, with the motto "Pals Forever" in the center. It was the dessert for a potluck dinner enjoyed by the more than 40 persons who attended. Harold Rudolph, YMCA executive director, is shown cutting the cake.

Final performances of 'Alice' this Sunday

The Masquers' "Alice in Wonderland" production will be repeated Sunday at 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. at the BAC/Miners' Theater in Collinsville.

On Feb. 16, the Masquers' initial presentations of "Alice" were given, the second show of the group's 1974-75 season.

The play, based on Lewis Carroll's book and adapted for the stage by Anne Coulter, Martens, has particular appeal to children, as evidenced by the predominately young crowd which packed the theater in Collinsville for the two Sunday matinees.

The enthusiasm of the older people present proved, however, that fantasy is not solely the domain of children, a spokesman commented.

Kathy Dart brought "Alice" to life on stage and, through her portrayal of the bewildered girl, led hundreds of young and old on the trip through "Wonderland."

Judy Padgett as the duchess, Annette Tarpoft as the queen of hearts, Jim Fensterman as the king and a chorus of young children decked out as flowers, cards and heart children constructed a wonderland which confused the young Alice.

But, through the subtle prodding of the Cheshire Cat, portrayed by Margaret Pennell, "Alice" was forced to look within herself, where she came to understand the confusion and discovered that understanding is the key that opens doors and eradicates fears.

Acclaimed performances also were given by Mark Stephens as the white rabbit, Kim Hall as the duchess' cook, Larry Libby as the mad hatter, Betty Dart as Tweedledum, Betty Skirball as Tweedledee and Jack French as the mock turtle.

Judy Padgett designed the backdrop, and designed the set pieces along with Jack French and Chuck Norris.

Mrs. Beverly Scroggins directed the production with the assistance of Mrs. Pennell.

The Masquers will present "Alice in Wonderland" twice more this Sunday, March 2, in Collinsville. All tickets are 50 cents.

Automotive center open, features new concept

Milax, the nation's largest chain of automotive tune-up centers, has opened its new tune-up center, at 3030 Madison Ave., Granite City.

As the name implies, the Milax Tune-up Center specializes in engine performance diagnosis and tune-up for all types of domestic and foreign cars.

Because of the recent gasoline crisis and higher fuel prices, engine tune-ups have become increasingly important because an untuned engine can "rob" the motorist of up to a third of his gasoline, a Milax spokesman said.

Glen Hollis, owner of the new center, explained that while this is one of a national chain of automotive centers, the service is a "personalized one for the community."

The Milax concept calls for immaculate work areas, neatly uniformed technicians and a battery of electronic diagnostic equipment, he related.

A smartly furnished waiting room is provided for customer comfort and convenience.

Hollis invites the customer to observe the entire procedure.

"We're so proud of our ability and our shop, that we'd like to have everybody come in and watch. We're not afraid to show anybody our work. Besides, it's educational and interesting," he said.

Trained specialists first make a complete 40-point electronic check of engine performance, usually taking about 15 minutes. A complete written report of the results is prepared for the customer.

No work is done until the customer agrees to the required parts and labor. The owner knows the exact cost before he agrees to the work, Hollis said.

The 30-step tune-up covers complete engine performance. The center also services brakes and auto air conditioners.

"Efficient gasoline combustion promotes better mileage and also reduction of undesirable exhaust emissions."

"The tune-up technician doing the same work day after day becomes more adept because he doesn't have to be concerned with suspension or transmission problems."

"Technicians can perform a 40-point electronic analysis and a 30-step complete tune-up in less than an hour and a half on most cars."

City vehicles damaged at fire

A Granite City Fire Department pumper truck and a city police department squad car were damaged in an accident in the 3700 block of Kirkpatrick Homes after a fire call there at 10:10 p.m. Wednesday turned out to be a false alarm.

Officials said the fire truck, driven by George Moran, was backing and the squad car, driven by Patrolman Ervin Kowalski, attempted to drive out of the way, but was struck by the fire truck.

Half-day classes for Venice pupils

Venice Grade School pupils will have half-day holidays on the next two Thursdays due to special events at the school, Venice Supt. of Schools Robert N. Vickers said today.

Classes at the Venice Grade School will be dismissed at noon on Thursday, March 6, when parent-teacher conferences are scheduled from 1 to 3:15 p.m., and on the following Thursday, March 7, when the school is closed. During the same hours — 1 to 3:15 p.m. on Thursday, March 13, a teachers' workshop is planned, Supt. Vickers advised.

Ward Iann, an education specialist from the Illinois Office of Education, will review aspects of the state Comprehensive Health Education Act at the session. A Venice High School health instructor and school nurse also will attend the workshop.

The half-day school closing affects Venice kindergartners through eighth grade students only, Vickers stressed.

AUTO-TRAIN CRASH. An auto driven by Steve J. Spiroff, standing next to Madison Police Officer Peter Kostecki, and an Illinois Terminal Railroad engine driven by Lester Grimes of St. Louis collided at the Grand Avenue tracks between 13th and 14th streets in Madison at 2:40 p.m. Wednesday. The train in the background, was headed east and the auto was southbound on Grand Avenue. Damage to the side of the car can be seen. No injuries were reported.

THE "GAY 90s" STRIKES AND DEPRESSION IN ILLINOIS

The Chicago Columbian Exposition of 1893 celebrated the wonders of industrial progress. Like the White City itself, however, glittering optimism was a shell.

By 1894 Illinois was in the grip of a devastating depression. That depression led to one of the state's most important labor disputes. Miners suffered grievously that year, averaging less than $12 a month. On Independence Day, 1894, 300 Spring Valley miners offered to sell themselves into slavery for adequate food and clothing. The United Mine Workers of America, created in 1890, called a strike on June 9, but the bankrupt union, still a paper organization, proved unable to enforce it. The Illinois National Guard was called out nine times in May and June to quell disturbances around the mines.

Of greater importance was the strike of the Pullman workers at George Pullman's "model town." Pullman was a beautiful city, embodying the most progressive city planning of that day. Church and recreational facilities, shops and stores were provided for the factory workers who rented homes there.

Unfortunately for the workers, Pullman was also a classic feudal community. George Pullman owned the town and expected its every operation to turn a profit. Paychecks were cashed at the community savings bank which automatically deducted the rent. Living costs exceeded that of nearby communities, and an informal "information system" kept careful track of workers who expressed dissatisfaction with the town or the company.

Wage reductions in Pullman in 1894 were estimated at between 19 and 85 percent—depending on whether the estimate was a company official or a worker. The already high rents, however, did not decrease, and the 5500-man work force was reduced to 3300 by July.

In desperation the grim workers joined the American Railway Union, formed the year before by Eugene Victor Debs. This industrial union, fresh from a victorious strike against the Great Northern Railway, sympathized with the Pullman workers, and voted to boycott the company's rolling stock.

The General Managers Association, a voluntary, unincorporated, and later illegal society made up of the 34 railroads serving Chicago announced its opposition and hired private guards. Under the encouragement of Attorney General of the United States Richard Olney, a former railroad attorney, a sweeping injunction was issued against the ARU's activities. Its justification was the accusation that the strikers had been interfering with the United States mails.

On July 17 Debs was arrested for contempt of court for defying the injunction and was sentenced to six months in the Woodstock, Ill., jail. During his incarceration this son of a conservative Republican grocer from Terre Haute, Ind., embraced socialism.

When the strike was finally called off on Aug. 5, the ARU was in ruins. The railroad workers retreated to their older and more ineffectual craft unions. "Government by injunction," as Governor Altgeld called it, would be the pattern for federal and state action against labor for the next 40 years. The worst depression of the century ended in 1897 after four difficult years throughout the state.

BURGLARY ON BUXTON

A $150 television set and a $1,000 stereo unit were stolen from the home of Michael Holten, 2006 Buxton Ave., after glass in a rear door was broken, and the 5500-man work force was reduced to 3300 by July.

Two bedrooms were ransacked and the telephone was torn from the wall. Glass in the rear door was broken to gain entry.

Auto plate deadline

The deadline for displaying 1975 license plates on autos is midnight Saturday, according to Secretary of State Michael Howlett. The deadline originally was set Feb. 15, but was extended by the secretary of state's office because of a backlog of work in mailing out licenses from Springfield.

March 6 appearance by EIU Choir

The Eastern Illinois University Concert Choir under the direction of Dr. Robert E. Snyder, conductor, will perform at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 6, at the Namecki United Methodist Church. The public is invited to attend; admission is free.

Performing with the ensemble will be Kathy Davis, a senior music major at Eastern and the daughter of Mrs. Gloria Davis, 2557 Lincoln Ave. The EIU Concert Choir has been selected as one of five university choral ensembles to sing at the national convention of the American Choral Directors Association taking place in St. Louis on March 6 through March 8. The choral group also will appear at the bi-regional Music Educators National Conference convention in April at Omaha, Neb. A variety of compositions will be presented by the choir in its program here. Patrons will hear several motets for two choirs, works by American composers and a spiritual. Featured will be three compositions by Daniel Pinkham, including a vivid depiction of "Daniel in the Lions' Den." The latter number employs percussion instruments, soloists, electronic tapes and two pianos. The EIU Concert Choir's director is a graduate of Capital University at Columbus, Ohio. He received his doctorate from the University of Iowa. As director of choral activities at Eastern, Dr. Snyder directs two other choirs and teaches voice and choral conducting.

Weber, Kaleta, Grimm, Rozycki, Knapp end long GC Steel careers

Among new retirees from Granite City Steel are 18 Quad-Cityans, with Charles Weber, 63, of No. 9 Westgate Drive, leading in length of service with 47 1/2 years. Close behind was Joe Kaleta, 67, of 926 Reynolds St., Madison, with 46 1/2 years.

Weber spent most of his career in the Blast Furnace Electrical Department, and retired as BF maintenance electrician. He and his wife, Irene, have a daughter and seven grandchildren. The couple likes deep-sea fishing, and will visit Florida frequently to enjoy the sport.

Kaleta retired as 56-inch Temper Mill stocker in the Cold Rolled Finishing Department. His son, Louis, works in the Utilities Department at the plant, and two brothers — Stan and Pete — are veteran GC crane-men.

Kaleta and his wife, Anna, have two sons, a daughter and eight grandchildren. Kaleta plans to work around his house and to travel.

The 17 other retirees had careers ranging from 43 1/2 years to 16 1/2 years. George "Red" Knapp, 62, of 3301 Harvard Place, retired as Cold Rolled Finishing Temper Mill operator after 43 1/2 years of service. He and his wife, Ruth, have one daughter. Knapp enjoys golfing.

Arthur Grimm, 62, retired from the Roll Shop after 41 1/2 years of service with GCS. He and his wife, Bernice, live at 15434 N. Niedringhaus Ave. Grimm began his mill career in the old Tin Mills as a motor trucker.

Stan Rozycki, 65, Cold Strip chief roller, retired after more than 40 1/2 years of service. He and his wife, Laura, live at 1709 Elizabeth St., Madison. They have two sons, two daughters and eight grandchildren.

John Phillips, 60, of 2928 Washington Ave., retired from the Basic Oxygen Furnace after more than 38 years of service. He started Oct. 30, 1936, in the Yard Labor department, and held a number of jobs in the Open Hearth over the years before moving to the new BOP.

George Amisch, Sr., 66, retired as 80-inch Hot Strip heater after almost 38 years of service. He and his wife, Mae, live at 2606 Madison Ave. They have three sons and two daughters. A daughter, Cathy Gauder, and son, Chris Amisch, both work at GCS. Amisch likes to travel.

Charles Wasylak, 58, retired as BOP steel pourer after 37 1/2 years of service. He and his wife, Lorraine, live at 2328 E. 29th St. They have three daughters and two grandchildren. Wasylak will keep busy as custodian of Sacred Heart School and Church, Granite City.

Rudy Kuenkler, 62, of 2549 Spaulding Ave., was a BOP ladie crane-man, retiring after 34 years of service. He and his wife, Ann, have three daughters and one son. Kuenkler plans to do some woodworking, and perhaps a little fishing.

Ray Lowell, 61, of 2808 Buxton Ave., had three periods of service with GC Steel, retiring with continuous service of 32 1/2 years. He was a BOP dock engineer. A widow, Lowell has a daughter and a granddaughter. Three brothers — Walter, Irvin, and Earl — also have retired from GC Steel.

Euell Mann, 63, of 2828 Palmer Ave., retired as Blast Furnace byproducts operator after 32 years of service. He was in the BF labor crew, laying track for the ore bridge. He and his wife, Helen, plan to travel in their 22-foot camping trailer and do a lot of fishing.

Mrs. Lola Robinson, 61, retired as Cold Rolled Finishing office weigher after almost 31 years of service. She held the same job for her entire GCS career. She and her husband, Ernest, live at 3141 Davis Ave.

Ed Dietrich, 65, retired as Steelworks Machine Shop welder after 30 years of service. He and his wife, Edna, live at 2113 Lincoln Ave. They have a son, a daughter and seven grandchildren. Dietrich likes the outdoors and nature and will "get out in the woods and tramp around."

Clifford "Chet" Buford, 64, of 2027 Lee Ave., retired as North Plant Galvanize Line delivery operator after 29 years of service with GCS. He and his wife, Fay, rent a place near Plainview, Ill. and will spend some time there — particularly during the gardening season.

Leo Pate, 62, retired as Blast Furnace maintenance foreman after more than 26 1/2 years of service with GCS. Pate started with the firm on May 25, 1948, in the track labor crew and became a foreman in 1950. He lives at 22 Lakeview Drive.

Marvin Ollis, 62, of 2039 Sherman Ave., retired from the 80-inch Hot Strip Mill after more than 24 years of GCS service. He started with the firm on Nov. 10, 1950, in the Hot Rolled Finishing labor crew.

Jim Doyle, 65, retired as an inspector after over 21 years of continuous service. He also had a previous period of service with GCS. He and his wife, Ola, 2245 Washington Ave., have two sons, a daughter and nine grandchildren. Mrs. Ola Doyle is a former GCS employee and their son, Pat, is an electrician at GC Steel.

Henry Kohlbrecher, 72, retired as Annealing Floor foreman after 16 1/2 years of continuous service. He worked for the firm for two previous periods. He and his wife, Edna, live at 2452 Center. They have one daughter. Kohlbrecher will enjoy some fishing at his property on the Illinois River, he reports.

Puppets at Sunday rally

The Good Neighbor Gang puppets will be featured at a children's rally Sunday at Central Free Methodist Church, 4150 South St., at Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach.

The puppets are the creation of the Rev. Dave Colgan and his family, who operate the puppets. He is aided by his wife, Peggy, and his sons, Deron and Mark.

Rev. Colgan is the Christian education and camping director for the Central Illinois Conference of the Free Methodist Church. The family resides in Greenville, Ill.

A special program of singing, special music, slides, refreshments and the puppet show will begin at the church at 2:30 p.m. Sunday. All area children and adults who work with children are being invited to attend.

Rev. Colgan also will speak during the worship services at the church Sunday at 10:40 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Boards to study 6 school topics

Area school board members and administrators will gather at the Bekeville Township High School (West Campus), on Thursday, March 6, to take part in the semi-annual dinner meeting of the Southwestern Division of the Illinois Association of School Boards.

The evening meeting consists of a dinner, a keynote address and six concurrent panel presentations.

Keynote speaker is Charles M. Given, assistant legal advisor, Southern Illinois Regional Office, Illinois Office of Education, Mt. Vernon.

The six panel topics are: Administrative staff evaluation, board responsibility, alternative programs, new state board of education, pupil personnel records — discipline and employee negotiations.

A maintenance clinic in cooperation with the Service Associates of IASB will be held during the panel sessions. Also included will be report by an IASB representative on statewide issues in education. IASB is a voluntary service organization of about 1,000 Illinois school boards, with headquarters in Springfield.

The Southwestern Division includes few counties: Madison, Monroe, Randolph and St. Clair. The panel on the new state education board will be presided over by Donald Stucke, president of the Granite City Board of Education.

Granite City Supt. B. J. Davis will discuss pupil records and discipline.

Past officers feted at Frohardt

Frohardt PTA observed Founders' Day last week at its February meeting. Past presidents of the unit were honored and a choral program was presented by the Madrigal Singers from Granite City High School South.

Mrs. Karen Prazar, Frohardt PTA historian, introduced the past presidents and read a short history of events which occurred during their term in office.

The current president, Mrs. Joyce Toussaint, presented each past officer with a carnation and scroll and announced two books were purchased in their honor for the school library. The books will be inscribed with their names, she said.

Past presidents attending the meeting were: Francis Herman, 1965-66; Mrs. Maxine Ellington, 1966-67; Lee Reid, 1968-69; Mrs. Mary Febrman Jeffries, 1969-70; Mrs. Sara Metcalf, 1970-71; Mrs. Frances Holt, 1972-73 and Mrs. Janet Wilson, 1973-74.

Mrs. Mary Bright, South High School choral instructor, introduced 20 students who comprise the Madrigal Singers. They presented a program of popular tunes, old-time melodies and spirituals.

Presentation of the colors was performed by Browne Troop 500, led by Mrs. June Stille and Mrs. Jackie Little, and Browne Troop 387, directed by Mrs. Joanne Spohr and Mrs. Judie Himmelright.

Mrs. Toussaint presided at the business session and reported the current candy sale will conclude Monday. Proceeds will be used to help defray the cost of student field trips.

A school skating party is planned on March 24 at the Stardust Skating Rink and the annual picnic is scheduled on May 24 at Wilson Park, it was announced.

Frohardt School will have a learning center in the fall, Mrs. Toussaint reported. She noted the PTA unit has set aside funds to purchase extra equipment for use in the new program.

Hospitality chairmen Mrs. Edie Donjorian and Mrs. Arlene Lamb awarded the room attendance prize to Mrs. Sharon Sedlack's second grade class. Refreshments were served by the second grade room mothers after the meeting.

Church Women to hear teacher-photographer

Eugene Smallman, social studies teacher and photographic hobbyist is combining his talents in both areas to prepare the program for Church Women United's "World Day of Prayer on Friday, March 7."

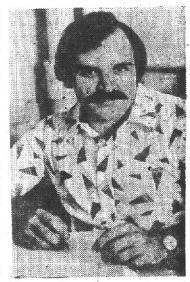

The presentation will be made at Namook, United Presbyterian Church, starting at 9 a.m., March 7.

Entitled "Water for Women," the program is the end product of many hours of exhaustive research by Smallman in producing slides depicting the plight of water-starved countries, CWU officers reported.

An intense interest in photography has motivated Smallman to travel extensively, including two extensive tours of Europe and visits to Mexico. He also plans to visit Greece, Egypt and Israel in the near future.

Born and reared in Chicago, Smallman came here in 1966 to teach at Granite City High School. Previously, he was a social studies teacher in Payson, Ariz., for four years.

He holds a bachelor of arts degree from Arizona State University and a master of science degree in education from Southern Illinois.

Walker's veto angers the elderly

By ROBERT ESTILL

SPRINGFIELD — With a single stroke of the pen, Gov. Daniel Walker has ended the strength of a sizable bloc of voters while boosting the stock of potential political rival Lt. Gov. Neil Hartigan.

Walker's veto of Hartigan-supported legislation providing tax relief for senior citizens earning less than $10,000 annual has prompted the state's elderly voters to put their pens to work in irate protest.

It's no small constituency involved. About a tenth of the state's population — or about 1.2 million people — are 65 years of age or older. The tax relief legislation, which would have applied to about 450,000 households, drew 130,000 letters in support when the program was before the legislature.

Now the letter-writers are at it again. Hartigan's office has received about 125 letters and telephone calls a day since Walker vetoed the bill.

They generally are condemning Walker for his action, praising Hartigan for vowing to try again with the bill at this session and urging Hartigan to oppose Walker in 1978.

"Gov. Walker should lose his teeth in the next 24 hours," wrote one obviously irate couple from Arlington Heights.

"We urge you to run for office of governor as we feel that he is cruel and merciless."

A 72-year-old widow from Dolton wrote Hartigan saying she was glad he had a "soft spot" for the elderly.

She received $214 a month in Social Security, paid $200-a-month rent and her life savings had dwindled to about $600.

"I wonder how he (Walker) would like that worry," she said.

Walker's action undoubtedly cost him support among those who had been with him before.

Walker's explanation that the state couldn't afford the $34 million price tag for the program apparently did not sway them.

"He wasn't at all reluctant when he increased his and his cohorts' salaries," objected one senior citizen.

Walker's $50,000-a-year salary wasn't increased in the recent bills but he did sign legislation boosting the pay of legislators, judges and his cabinet members. Letter-writers also called attention to Walker's $4.1 billion construction program.

"I don't feel that the state should be put $1.9 billion in debt for construction at a time when we are saying we can't afford a $34 million tax relief program for the elderly," one senior said in letters sent to Hartigan and Walker.

"We sincerely hope Neil Hartigan's sponsorship of this important piece of legislation had nothing to do with it being vetoed."

Hartigan said he would hope to keep senior citizens' tax relief out of the area of a Walker-Hartigan battle.

"I don't want to go this off in the corner of personalities," he said. "I want to keep the focus on the issue. The less there is on personalities, the better I'd like it."

Hartigan said he also wasn't surprised by news reports that two men close to Walker had asked ex-U.S. Rep. Kenneth Gray of West Frankfort if he would be interested in being Walker's running mate in 1978. Gray said he wasn't interested. "As far as I'm concerned, Kenney is a good guy and a good friend," Hartigan said.

He said he was told by Vice de Grazia, deputy to the governor, that they were going to "destroy" him as early as September of 1972 when he had differed with the governor on a mass transportation issue. But Hartigan said he and his wife would speak his own mind on issues.

There is a $500 reward for return of equipment and conviction of those responsible for thefts at the World Wide Diving and Sports Center in Caseyville, it was announced here today.

Burglars entered at 10:30 p.m. Sunday and took pressure gauges, many tanks and valves and assorted back packs and diving equipment.

The center at Rt. 157 and East Scates Street will provide a $250 reward for return of the equipment. Quad-City area divers are aiding efforts to locate the gear.

Lake Park funds in Walker plan

Construction funds totaling $1,545,000 for development of Horseshoe Lake State Park are included among items in Gov. Dan Walker's $4.1 billion accelerated building program.

An additional $115,000 is earmarked for the Horseshoe Lake Conservation Area and National Park.

For the state park development, the program includes $840,000 for demolition of old buildings and site restoration prior to recreational development; $405,000 for phase One development including surfacing and water lines, and $200,000 for campground development. The program includes $40,000 for a well and pump and $75,000 for a new office building in the National Park area.

Other area allocations in the governor's plan provides $1,018,000 for Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, including $575,000 for the remodeling and rehabilitation of parts of the Science and Technology building, Peck Classroom building, General Office building and library building.

Man hit by train, hurt critically

Jerry Hopper, 23, of 1184 Homestead, O'Fallon, was in critical condition today in the intensive care unit of St. Elizabeth Hospital after he was struck by a Terminal Railroad Association train near the switching point of Steel Package Co., Inc., 14th and State streets, at 10:15 a.m. Wednesday.

He was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital with severe injuries to his left foot and two broken bones in his lower left leg.

Continue coal terminal talks

Officials of the Tri-City Regional Port District met yesterday with representatives of the area's seven largest coal users to discuss the feasibility of constructing a major coal loading, unloading and storage dock at the port here.

The users agreed that preliminary planning indicates the coal terminal here could save them money.

They authorized the port district to compile data on costs of dock construction as well as costs of coal and of rail facilities to move the coal to various plants.

The group agreed to meet again in three weeks to further study the plans.

Carl Ranft, general manager and secretary of the port, commented that the coal facility could take one year to construct once authorized. Whether the project will be carried out now or in the late 1970s was not decided.

Major users represented at the meeting agreed on one type of coal that would be suitable for all to use and preliminary estimates indicate the industries would use about one million tons per year from the terminal.

Country Shindig 'Opry' Sunday

Most merchants in Downtown Granite City have tickets available for two performances of the "Country Shindig Opry Show" to be presented Sunday in the gymnasium at Granite City High School South.

Tickets costing $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for children under 12 years also may be obtained in advance from members of the Granite City Jaycees, or on Sunday at the South High gymnasium door immediately before the 2:30 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. performances.

The "Shindig" show is the first country-western production to be sponsored by the Jaycees in the past six years. Gann, Jaycee president, said proceeds from the benefit event will be used to further community youth projects in which the young men's service club is involved. Billed as a family show with "good clean" humor and lively songs, "Country Shindig" is a two-hour production with a blend of music and comedy, the Jaycee officer said.

"The music goes as far back to the 'old country' and western as you can remember, and as new as the latest modern country sound," according to Dennis Hilton, who originated the troupe and erected a new and elaborate auditorium at Osage Beach at the Lake of the Ozarks.

Much of the comedy is written by Hilton and the show's comedian, Thom "Gabby" Gumm.

In addition to Hilton who doubles as announcer, musician and producer, and Gumm, comedian-singer, other performers are Steve West, 23, lead guitarist, banjo player and singer; Rich Mehling, 19, drummer; Sarah Farrell, 22, pianist and vocalist; and Sandy DeRousse, 18, five-string banjo artist and singer.

The Country Shindig entertainers recently cut their second album at Columbia Studios in Nashville, Tenn. The album, distributed on a History label, includes such country-western hits as "Big Bad Leroy Brown," "Behind Closed Doors" and "You Gave Me a Mountain."

The cast performs nightly during the tourist season, with exception of Sunday, at their own auditorium at Osage Beach. In the winter months they travel to various engagements on board their own modern bus equipped with a modern bathroom and sleeping accommodations for each member of the show.

"We urge everyone to come out and see the show. We know all members of the family will enjoy it," Glen said today.

Fail to appear

Two Madison High School students and their parents failed to appear at a discipline hearing called by the Madison School Board meeting Monday evening. The students will not be allowed to re-enter school until they meet with the board.

Road, bridge conditions blamed for rise in Illinois school bus mishaps

A highway lobby says Illinois school bus accidents are on the rise and it puts part of the blame on bad roads and bridges.

The figures were compiled and released by The Road Information Program (TRIP), a non-profit research organization sponsored by road builders, construction equipment manufacturers and suppliers, and other businesses involved in highway engineering, construction and financing.

TRIP said Illinois had 1,665 school bus accidents with 796 persons reported injured in the school year ending in June 1973, which compares with averages of 1,215 accidents and 729 injuries over each of the previous five years in the state. The figures do not include Chicago.

"Illinois roads and bridges, many of which are traveled by school buses several times a day, are in serious need of repair," says TRIP.

"A total of 73,509 miles of the state's 130,484 miles of streets and highways are rated 'deficient' by the Federal Highway Administration."

TRIP's statement was prepared by Carl Byoir and Associates, Inc., a Washington, D.C., public relations firm and consultant to the highway research organization.

Joe Ewing, who handles the TRIP account for Carl Byoir, acknowledged in an interview that there "is a certain amount of self-serving interest" in such state reports put out on behalf of highway interests.

"We hope it's objective material," he added, noting that TRIP has an "Independent research staff" for such studies.

According to TRIP, while many of the Illinois bus accidents were caused by driver error, some were the result of dangerous road and street conditions that should be corrected.

TRIP says 729,131 students rode Illinois school buses in the 1972-73 school year against an average of 647,200 in the five previous years, or a 12.7 per cent increase.

While school bus accidents increased 37 per cent in the 1966-73 period, collisions were rising at a rate of nearly three times that of the number of riders, according to the findings.

School-bus mileage in Illinois climbed to 104,768,381 miles in the 1972-73 year from an average of 79,350,400 in the previous five school years.

The research agency estimated that seven per cent can be added to mileage for educational activities when football games, field trips and similar non-educational purposes are included in the total.

Besides the "deficient" roads in Illinois, TRIP said 1,316 of the state's 23,346 bridges are too narrow or too weak to handle heavy vehicles. A typical school bus is eight feet wide and weighs 10 tons loaded with children.

Madison plans burglar alarms at 175 places

A plan by which the city of Madison would install burglar alarms in every business firm in the city, as well as all churches and schools, was outlined to Madison City Council members Tuesday night by Mayor Mike Sayk.

The mayor said there are about 175 places in which the alarms would have to be placed at a cost now estimated at $31,000 to $35,000.

"We are going to talk to the merchants and get their reaction. The city would pay for the installation with revenue sharing funds and each merchant would pay between $5 and $10 a month rent. In time we would get our money back," the mayor said.

"I believe the cost will be low enough that everyone will participate, and if every business place has an alarm this should be a major deterrent to burglaries and robberies."

The mayor also announced a drive is planned by police to encourage residents to lock their cars and not leave keys inside their autos.

Sayk informed the council the city is petitioning the Illinois Commerce Commission to order installation of flashing lights on State Street at the railroad crossing between 13th and 14th Streets.

The council refused two bids.

Gardens benefit from spraying before growth starts in spring

By CHRIS DOLL
Area Adviser—Fruits and Vegetables

Dormant sprays to fruit plants are so-called because they are applied before growth starts in the spring.

They are needed to control insects and diseases that are difficult to combat in other ways and at other times.

The primary material used for insect control at this time is dormant oil or plant spray oil—a non-toxic, safe pesticide that kills through suffocation rather than poisoning. Scale insects are the principal pest requiring control at this time.

If the trees are near buildings or painted fences, spray carefully so that drift doesn't discolor the paint.

If your plum or peach tree has plum pockets or peach leaf curl, spray before bud break. Use captan, ferbam or zineb or a multi-purpose spray mix. Captan and plant spray oil don't mix, so avoid using these two materials on the same trees or plant.

Dormant spraying should be done on a warm calm breeze. Use a time when it won't freeze for 24 hours.

Follow dosage rates on the pesticide container. Try to get thorough coverage of all limbs and branches.

If you spade or plow your garden when the soil is wet, you may have problems all season long. Soil that is too wet when you work it will become cloddy and that, in turn, can mean limited root development in your garden crops.

Wait until the soil is mellow. If it breaks and crumbles easily when you form a soil ball in your hands, the soil is dry enough.

If it sticks to the hoe, rake or shovel, it's still too wet. It's usually advisable to work the garden as early as possible in the spring, because spring rains may delay later opportunities.

Once you've spaded or plowed the garden you can work over small sections and plant in rotation as you need additional space.

Plant onions, peas and potatoes first and follow a few days later with such vegetables as lettuce, beets, carrots, radishes and cabbage.

Hold off on planting such frost-sensitive plants as snap beans, tomatoes, cucumbers, eggplant and sweet potatoes until you're reasonably sure it's not going to freeze again.

TEN STEPS TO SUCCESSFUL GARDENING

While gardening may appear to be a fairly simple thing, there are at least 10 steps that must be considered. Follow these and you should experience a bountiful harvest.

(1) Make good use of your location. Select a plot of ground with good soil near the home and a water supply, and away from trees, shrubs and buildings so that it receives at least three-fourths of available sunlight.

(2) Plan your garden layout. The size of the garden determines what you can economically plant. Use a garden handbook to determine plant characteristics, planting distances, season of planting and maturity, what can be intercropped and doubled cropped. A planned garden can be an efficient garden.

(3) Grow recommended varieties. Carefully select disease-resistant, high quality vegetables that are adapted to this area. Check the label to see if they are good for processing too.

(4) Obtain good seed, plants and equipment. Buy clean, disease free seed with good germination percentage. Plants should be medium size, healthy looking, and not wilted. Equipment should be clean, sharp, and adapted to the job and gardener.

(5) Prepare and care for the soil properly. The soil provides food and water to plants, so it should have the acidity corrected, and organic matter and fertilizer added. Avoid working or tramping the soil when it is too wet.

(6) Plant your vegetables right. Have a good seed bed, and follow the directions for spacing and depth. Some crops like cool weather (peas and lettuce) and some like heat (beans and peppers). Plant by crop adaptability to the weather and soil and you won't have to worry about the moon signs.

(7) Keep down weeds. Weeds compete for water and nutrients with the vegetables. Cultivation and mulching are the best methods of weed control for home gardeners.

(8) Control pests. Insects and diseases can ruin many vegetables. Prevention is frequently the best cure, so use disease resistant varieties, disease-free seed and plants, keep down weeds, and avoid working when the plants are wet. It might be necessary to use a spray or dust schedule on crops such as cabbage and tomatoes.

(9) Water properly. Most vegetables need a regular supply of water, so water or irrigate when soil moisture declines.

(10) Harvest at peak quality. Most vegetables don't improve in quality after picking, so harvest at the proper maturity. Proper storage can prolong the useful life of many vegetables.

Follow these steps and you will have a year of enjoying the fruits of your labors—and an appreciation of the art of gardening.

Retired persons here to volunteer to help agencies

RSVP stands for the Retired Senior Citizen Volunteer Program—a way to involve senior citizens in worthwhile services in the community. If a senior citizen can spare a morning or an afternoon a week, he or she can be helpful in schools, hospitals, day care centers, libraries and other non-profit agencies in the community, it is reasoned. RSVP is sponsored by the Belleville Area College, and it is developing a variety of volunteer assignments to fit the many talents and abilities of persons who want to help others. Belleville Area College has requested that the Tri-City Area YMCA cooperate with it in extending the program in the local area. The YMCA board of directors has approved the cooperative arrangement with BAC. "With over 7,000 senior citizens in the Quad-City area, we have a tremendous resource that can provide volunteer services," a spokesman commented today. Mrs. Norma Mendoza has been named by the Tri-City Area YMCA to coordinate the program and work in cooperation with the Belleville Area College RSVP director, Gene Verdu. She will have an office at the local area. "If you are 60 or older, if you have time, if you love to share, then you can be an RSVP volunteer," the spokesman related. "Two important tasks will be started immediately to set the RSVP program in motion. First, agencies will be contacted to determine the volunteer assignments that they need to have done. "Secondly, senior citizens will be contacted and asked to list their skills and abilities which can be matched to the volunteer assignments. "There are no educational or income restrictions. Any persons 60 or older, men and women, are welcome. "There will be a volunteer job to interest any person who applies," the spokesman concluded. Mrs. Emilee Alford and Irvin

Slate, YMCA board members, were instrumental in bringing about the cooperation of the "Y" and Belleville Area College to provide the RSVP program. Mrs. Alford said, "It is most encouraging when we can get two great institutions to cooperate to serve people and meet needs in our community."

Officials disagree on why state car deaths are down

By TOM KACICH

SPRINGFIELD — The 55 mile per hour speed limit is now permanent and traffic fatalities are down in Illinois, but State Police and Transportation Department officials differ on whether there is any correlation between the two. Preliminary State Police reports show that 1,961 persons died in 1974 automobile accidents, compared to 2,369 in 1973.

"We're convinced," said State Police Sgt. Sam Nolan of the Field Operations Command, "that the 55 m.p.h. limit definitely had an impact in lowering the fatality rate." But Langhorne Bond, Illinois transportation secretary and a member of the Governor's Traffic Safety Committee, is unconvinced there is a definite connection between the lower speed limit and the lower death rate. "I remain open-minded about the real benefit that there has been as a result of the 55 m.p.h. limit," said Bond. "There have been claims that it is responsible for up to 50 per cent of the decrease in traffic fatalities. I'm not convinced that's true."

Nolan admits other variables contributed to the reduction in highway deaths. "There was less travel due to the unavailability of gasoline," Nolan said. "New safety devices may have also helped, but I think you have to admit that the 55 m.p.h. limit has saved a significant number of lives." Bond pointed out in the 1940s the nation had a highway death rate of 19 per 100 million passenger miles while that has now decreased to 3.6. "At the same time the average speed has gone way up," he said. "It's very easy to conclude that the faster you go and the better the roads are, the safer you are."

Bond recalled that during World War II the speed on the Pennsylvania Turnpike was reduced to 30 m.p.h. in an effort to save fuel. But the accident rate shot up accordingly because people were not accustomed to the lower limits. "We found that during the energy crisis fewer young people drove," Bond said. "That's a high accident risk group and taking that group off the road caused a significant reduction. That's clearly another factor."

The transportation secretary also noted in the Chicago area, where virtually all roads previously had been limited to 50 or 55 m.p.h., even before the federal mandate, the death rate dropped 36 per cent. Bond feels the reduction was due to fewer cars on the road.

Before the speed limit dropped to 55, the accident rate in Illinois had plummeted significantly. Traffic fatalities were down in Illinois last year in every month but November. Bond admitted he has reservations about the speed limit reduction. "Our goal has been to enable people to move from one place to another quicker," Bond said. "We spent the enormous amount of money in state and federal funds in order to allow people to get to their destinations quicker. That's why I have reservations about cutting the speed limit back."

He favors reducing the size of automobiles as one major step; but, as a temporary move, he feels smaller cars should be allowed to travel at a faster speed. "Most cars and trucks are violating the lower limit. State Police report a 50 per cent increase in 1974 in the number of speeding tickets issued. Sgt. Nolan believes as many as 90 per cent of the highway drivers still are disobeying the law. More than 120,000 automobile drivers were issued speeding violations by State Police in 1974. The increase in the number of violations given to truck drivers was even greater — up some 61 per cent over 1973.

"We had a special problem with the trucks, in that they were just blatantly disobeying the law," Nolan said. "We had a special enforcement program which succeeded in bringing that down to a reasonable level." At the time the new speed limit went into effect, the state police were using 15 radar devices to catch speeders. But since that time, the state has switched to 85 "speed guns" which have contributed to the increase in violations issued.

But while state officials can point to the increase in speeding tickets as proof they are enforcing the law, they'll have to uphold that record if Sen. Charles Percy has any say in it. Percy has introduced legislation in Congress which would deny federal highway funds to those states which the Federal Department of Transportation feels aren't enforcing the limit.

HEALTH'S-A-POPPIN' Exercise helps ease tension

By MARION WELLS

It is yours for the taking, and research suggests that it may help you restore vigor, release tension, trim away fat and add life to your years no matter what your age. "It" is exercise.

Even if you're older, a medically approved program of gradual physical conditioning can bring a wealth of benefits which stretch far into the future and it doesn't have to be a drag.

For example, exercise may be one of the best tranquilizers money can't buy. In his new book, "Vigor Regained," Dr. Herbert A. DeVries, director of the University of Southern California's Mobile Laboratory for Physiology of Exercise and Aging Research, reported that "in the last ten years, we have conducted five different studies on young, middle-aged, and older men and women in which appropriate exercise has been shown to improve the ability to relax both immediately and over a sustained period."

According to DeVries, the "relaxerelaxing" (copyrighted) effects of physical activity may be particularly significant as you get older. Reaction time and movement tend to slow with age, increasing vulnerability as a driver or even a pedestrian. Tranquilizers may add an additional slowing effect.

What's more, findings to date indicate that a relaxed person works and thinks more efficiently, needs stimulants and tranquilizers less and, in general, doesn't have as many tension-related health problems.

Emanuel Cheraskin, M.D., and W.M. Ringsdorf Jr., D.M.D., of the University of Alabama, note that "... physical activity increases circulation through the body; exercising helps all the brain cells receive the nutrients they need. For many people, "nervous fatigue" is actually an indication of a sluggish circulation." Studies on people in the 65-to-75 age bracket have repeatedly indicated a notable improvement in memory, cognition, and other psychological factors tested following systematic physical conditioning.

A gradually accelerating exercise program may improve your heart's efficiency and decrease wear and tear. Each year the average heart beats some 40 million times, sending life-giving oxygen throughout the body.

Since oxygen is needed to burn food for energy, Dr. DeVries considers cardiac efficiency "... the most important functional element in determining our energy level."

After being on an exercise program, DeVries' older subjects showed a significant average increase in the amount of oxygen the heart transported with each beat. Thus, fewer heartbeats were required to do the same oxygen transport job.

Physical conditioning may also lessen fatigue by, improving muscle tone and endurance. It has been found that when muscles tire, it takes more muscle fibers to continue doing the same amount of work. Even sitting, standing or walking can be more fatiguing if your muscles are out of condition.

Finally, evidence indicates that weight lost through a combination of sound diet and exercise tends to zero in on undesired excess fatty tissue as contrasted to a greater loss of vital active body tissue through dieting alone. What's more, the higher metabolic rate which occurs with exercise continues for some time after activity stops. Nor does increased activity necessarily mean an increased appetite.

Workshop
records

Who can see student records? What can or can't they see? What procedures do school districts follow in giving out that information?

The Illinois Office of Education will be holding a series of workshops across the state to answer these and other questions concerning the new Family Rights and Privacy Act passed last year by Congress. A workshop will be held at Sunset Hill Holiday Inn at 9 a.m. April 22.

Invited to the workshops are persons who deal directly with students and their records — guidance counselors; school psychologists; school social workers; and school nurses. Also invited are district superintendents and superintendents of Educational Service Regions. State Superintendent of Education Joseph M. Cronin said Wednesday, "These workshops are designed not only to assure that all interested school district officials have a copy of the act, but also to give them a chance to receive answers to specific questions or problems they have or anticipate having."

"We hope," he continued, "that they will be able to return to their schools and hold similar sessions for teachers and administrators."

Included in the three-hour workshops will be discussion of privileged communication, subpoenas and personal liability, as well as an extensive presentation on the Family Rights and Privacy Act.

Booklets containing a copy of the federal legislation and a copy of state rules and regulations will be given to all workshop participants.

For further information on the workshops, citizens may contact workshop coordinator Ken Midliff, Illinois Office of Education, 316 S. 2nd St., Springfield, Ill. 62706.

Booklet on
world hunger

A booklet of meatless recipes and ways Americans can respond to world hunger has been published by the St. Louis University Institute for the Study of Peace and the St. Francis Xavier (College) Lower Church Community.

Titled "Eating as Brothers and Sisters: Meatless Meals and Other Responses to World Hunger," the booklet includes 30 meatless recipes, among them vegetarian lasagna, enchiladas, salmon pie and deviled perch.

In addition to other suggestions for individual and group action, the booklet gives brief descriptions of several agencies working to help alleviate world hunger.

According to Jim McGinnis, director of the Peace Institute, "Normally 400 million people in the world suffer from malnutrition — half of them children. This year, that number has doubled to almost one quarter of the whole human race."

"We do not claim that solely by eating less meat the world food crisis will be overcome," he said.

"The political decisions to set up the national and international mechanisms to transfer grain saved in wealthy countries to the hungry countries must accompany our dietary adjustments," he added.

The booklet is available from the St. Louis University Institute for the Study of Peace, 3801 West Pine, 33300, for $2.60, for a minimum donation of $1. A major part of the donation will go to Bread for the World, an organization promoting the needs of the world's hungry.

Charge youths

Robert R. Cok, 17, of 4101 Rode Ave., was charged with burglary and a 16-year-old Granite City boy was charged with a juvenile code violation after they allegedly removed an FBI radio converter from the auto of Pamela Best, 3005 E. 23rd St., at the Granite City High School South parking lot during the Officer Friendly benefit basketball game about 9 p.m. Tuesday.

Police said Craig Bredaver, Belleville, alleged finding two youths inside his car a short time later on the same parking lot and notified police who arrested them. They allegedly had the FBI converter from the Best auto in their possession when arrested.

$100 million state payroll each month

Comptroller George W. Lindberg today released statistics of payroll checks issued to state employees for work performed in September 1974.

There were 112,922 employees of all state agencies in September, an increase of 6,478, or six per cent, as compared to August 1974.

Exclusive of educational institutions, the September total was 74,746, a decrease of 1,917, or three per cent, from the August 1974 figure.

Changes by major groups were:

Constitutional officers and courts down 257, or three per cent.

Code departments down 1,100, or two per cent.

Major commissions down 15, or two per cent.

Miscellaneous agencies down 536, or 11 per cent.

Payrolls for all agencies total $100,466,702, an increase of $7,041,436, or eight per cent, from August 1974.

Payrolls for all agencies except educational institutions were $69,370,327, an increase of $1,799,064, or three per cent.

The number of employees in September 1974 was 4,254 more than in September 1973.

Educational institutions decreased by 1,059, all other state agencies were up by 5,313.

The overall total includes $458 Cook County public aid employees transferred to the state payroll in January 1974.

Total payroll costs for all state agencies increased $13,031,163, or 15 per cent, from September 1973 to September 1974.

McKendree 1950s week March 2-8

Avid followers of the "wet head," bobble socks and rock and roll will get their chance to reminisce as McKendree College holds its annual "50's Week" March 2 through March 8 on the Lebanon campus.

On Sunday, Richard Lamparski, a noted author on trivia, will answer such questions as "Whatever happened to Jerry Mathers?" "Who was Beaver of television's Leave It to Beaver or Miss Frances of Ding Dong School?"

Lamparski's lecture-slide presentation, entitled "Whatever Became of...?" came about when the author noticed that many once-famous stars - celebrities as dolled that their celluloid roles were copied by fans across the nation - were now treated as losers and has-beens.

A former press agent in Hollywood, he also reaches out of the realm of show business and into politics. He has interviewed Helen Galian Douglas and Jerry Voorhis, two individuals who opposed Richard Nixon and were defeated by what they call evil tactics.

The pages of "Whatever Became of..." are filled with the whereabouts of such television personalities as Spunky of "Our Gang," Buffalo Bob of "Howdy Doody" and Tonto of the "Lone Ranger."

The public is invited to the presentation, to be held at 8 p.m. in Upper Doreen.

The week will turn to an even lighter note as the students sponsor a penny carnival Tuesday, a "marathon day" Wednesday and the classic "50's" day Thursday.

The national record of cramming 34 persons in a phone booth may fall on Wednesday; McKendree students are eating less and exercising more in preparation for that big event.

A Volkswagen also will be the victim of an avalanche of students as they attempt to squeeze as many as possible into the "bug."

On Thursday, 1950s costumes will be required for all students. There will even be a required chapel service, like the "old days."

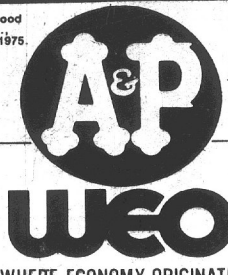

On Friday, hair grease and white socks again will be in abundance when Station KADI's Gary "Records" Brown will be spinning discs in Ames Hall. It will be one of several dances to be held Wednesday through Saturday.

Shopping To Save

When Shopping keep these points in mind:

- Take advantage of sales -- build up a modest reserve supply especially of items you use regularly as staples.
- Select the appropriate size for your needs.
- Choose the quality you need. "Standard quality" tomatoes are ideal for casseroles, are lower priced than "Grade A" or "Fine Quality" brands and are just as nutritious and palatable.
- Choose the most economical form -- instant non-fat dry milk can be an economical substitute for skim milk to save you calories as well as 1/3 the cost of fresh whole milk.
- Read the label -- check weight and ingredients listed in order of predominance.

OPPOSING LINEUPS before the third annual Officer Friendly benefit basketball game Tuesday night as the teams of the Granite City Fire Department, left, and the Granite City Police Department, right, were introduced before the game. The firemen won the 1973 game and the policemen were the 1974 winners, making this year's game a playoff. The police won 37-35, after trailing the firemen for most of the game. A large crowd was on hand and remained after the game to see Police Chief Ron Veizer, whose team was victorious, smash a pie in the face of Fire Chief Don Parente, a traditional ending to the event. Veizer, however, received another pie in his face, a gift from an admiring fireman.

OUTSIDE SHOT by Jim "Stretch" Reader for the police early in the game as the policemen attempted to overcome a 7-2 advantage held by the firemen. Other players, from left, are fireman Ken Druhe (number 24), policemen John Apperson and Roy Koberna, and firemen Junior Mathis and Jim Reiter.

IF AT FIRST YOU DON'T SUCCEED, try, try again, and again, and again, was the policemen's motto in the first half as scoring attempt after attempt bounced from the hoop and into the arms of the waiting firemen. Freddy "the Freeholder" Hoffman here attempts an unsuccessful free throw. The police aim improved during the final half as they went ahead for a 37-35 victory. Awaiting the rebound in dark uniforms are policemen Craig Nonn, facing camera, and Don Knight, back toward camera. Firemen shown include Charles Bernaux, number 30, and Jim Reiter, number 19.

Police win basketball game with firemen but pie battle is standoff

The Granite City Police Department squeaked past the city's Fire Department 37-35 to retain the Mayor's Cup trophy during the third annual Officer Friendly benefit basketball game Tuesday night.

But the police did not retain the trophy long, as their efforts in securing the trophy with handcuffs to a balcony railing of the gymnasium after the game were in vain. The handcuffs were cut and the trophy disappeared.

Police "suspected" the firemen may be responsible because the same trophy had mysteriously disappeared from a celebration table where it was surrounded by police after the 1974 game, and it was recovered at the fire station after Fire Chief Don Parente and another fireman were jokingly "arrested."

Firemen awoke Wednesday morning to find that a television set and a full 48-cup coffee pot were "missing."

In place of the missing television was a note in a police department envelope and on police stationery which indicated the TV and coffee pot would be returned if the firemen would return the trophy and replace the handcuffs.

Fire Chief Don Parente jokingly said he would call in the FBI, the CIA, and FBI and any other agency that might help locate the missing items.

The police later said they "found" the missing television and coffee pot somewhere and were holding them as evidence, pending their identification by someone bearing the proper "receipt."

The "receipt," it was believed, might be the Mayor's Cup trophy and one pair of handcuffs.

Chief of Police Ronald Veizer innocently pleaded he knew nothing about the thefts from the fire department but said the events since the basketball game "have been enjoyed by all."

With a gleam in his eye, Veizer said, "We put the trophy in plain view so the losing fire department could view OUR trophy."

"They were so envious that the firemen gathered around OUR trophy, drooling as they viewed it, and then it disappeared. That such a dastardly deed has been done hurts me to the quick."

The winning of the trophy by the police had appeared uncertain during the third period of play in the Granite City High School South gymnasium, as the firemen led by 10 points.

The police had been plagued by a poor shooting average in the first half, but finally began to heat and pulled slowly into the lead.

The officers attempted to stall with a four-point advantage with about one minute remaining, but the ball was stolen by a fireman and a basket narrowed the police advantage to two points, forcing them to play carefully to the final buzzer.

The final outcome showed the police victorious by one field goal, 37 to 35.

As a traditional part of the ceremony, the chief of the winning team is allowed to smash a pie in the face of the losing chief. Chief Veizer took his time, obviously enjoying the moment, before pushing the pie into Parente's face.

Veizer's smile disappeared quickly, however, as someone, "suspected" of having been a fireman, ran up to Veizer with another pie and smashed it in the police chief's face.

It later was contended that Veizer deserved the pie because he had disappeared when his team was losing the annual basketball game between the two departments at the annual city picnic last summer. That event also traditionally ends with a pie-in-the-face presentation to the losing chief.

A large crowd attended the basketball game and was entertained by the Granite City High School North Pep Band, the Steel City pom pon girls of North and the Black Knights drill team from Belleville.

Proceeds from the event will be used for the Officer Friendly Athletic Fund, which supports youth sports activities in this area throughout the year.

Hopes high as mat Warriors, Steelers go to state tourney

(Related article on Page 37)

Five matmen from Granite City High School South and four from Granite City High School North are among 192 competitors, representing 115 Class

AA schools (enrollment of 751 or more), who will vie for Illinois High School Association state honors this weekend in the 1975 state final wrestling tournament at the University of Illinois. Champaign-Urbana. Hopes are high. It is possible for a team to win the state meet with as few as two of three entrants.

Boating safety class at South

The United States Coast Guard Auxiliary - Division Seven, Flotilla 1 - will hold under the auspices of Belleville Area College a 10-week, 12-lesson boating safety course beginning March 5 at Granite City High School South.

The course is free and is open to any boater wishing to broaden his knowledge and skills of boating.

The course offers lessons in legal requirements, rules of the road, weather, marlinpike and other topics.

Those interested may register at the high school or in the class on the first night. Classes will begin at 7:30 p.m. and close at 9:30 p.m.

The school's adult education coordinator in Room 138 will give the location of the classroom.

AA warfare will begin at 1 p.m. tomorrow. Quarterfinal action will start tomorrow at 6 p.m. On Saturday, semifinals and wrestlingback competitor will get underway at noon. Third-place and fifth-place matches will start at 6 p.m. Saturday, to be followed by title bouts.

Representing the Granite City high schools, with season records, are: 58 pounds - Jim Caschetta (S), sectional champion, 23-5, and Keith Wheelan (N), sectional runnerup, 27-4; 105 - Matt McCullough (N) sectional champion, 25-41; 112 pounds - Steve Garland (S) sectional runnerup, 27-4; 119 - Kevin Page (S) sectional champion, 32-4-1; 138 - Don Hasty (S) sectional champion, 23-4-1; and 155 - Brian Wilson (S) sectional runnerup, 31-2.

Belleville East, which edged South 73½ to 71 here for the sectional title this past weekend, leads the state in qualifiers for the Class AA final with a trio of sectional champions and a trio of runnersup.

GCIS South, Franklin Park and Pekin each advanced five, while seven schools advanced four: Chicago Tilden, East Moline, Joliet East, Maywood (Proviso East), Moline, Naperville Central and Oak Lawn.

Of the seven Granite City state qualifiers, only two are returning competitors from last year's tournament - South's Wilson, who placed fourth last year in 135-pound competition, and South's Don Hasty, who was eliminated last year in first-round state action. "I don't think Belleville East will be in the running for the title," says South mat mentor William Schmitt.

"In recent years, the trend has been schools coming out of nowhere, with two or three wrestlers earning the state title for them."

Last year, Rich Central entered the meet with three matmen and won the Class AA title by a 10-point margin over Oak Lawn High School.

Individual weight class champions are a must for such an accomplishment.

Schmitt feels that the first couple of rounds against Chicago area teams will produce the toughest competition for both South and North.

All seven Granite City grapplers are paired against Chicago area and Northern Illinois matmen in first-round action.

Recalling his team's state victory in 1965, Schmitt remarked, "We won without producing a single champion. Consistent third and fourth places earned all our points."

"It is very possible," says Schmitt, "for a team to capture this year's meet the same way." For this to happen, however, a school must have four or five wrestlers avoid an early defeat.

Only the top two sectional finishers in each weight class, along with the top two in each weight in the Chicago Public League sectional meet, earned the right to advance to the state finals at Champaign.

The local grapplers started their climb toward the state finals by virtue of their performances in this month's Edwardsville district meet.

The district title was shared by GCIS South and Belleville East.

North wins finale; Warriors, Steelers head for regional

The Steelers eagles of Granite City High School North ended their 1974-75 regular season competition with a 16-9 record after downing Roxana 70-64 Tuesday at Roxana.

GCIS North will next seek to capture the Collinsville Class AA Regional tournament next week if it can get past O'Fallon Monday in first-round action at 8:30 p.m.

GCIS South and Highland will meet at 7 p.m. Monday to start the Collinsville regional meet.

Ticket sales are being handled through the local high school offices.

The Steelers slowly closed the gap at Roxana after being outscored by the Shells in the second period.

North led 18-15 after the first quarter but trailed 37-24 at the half.

The Steelers rallied with a 20-point spree to lead 54-45 entering the final period.

GCIS North made 29 of 67 field goal attempts and hit 12 of 21 free throws. Roxana, led by the 25 points of Chris Schroeder, sparked with 27 of 51 shots from the field and 10 of 14 charity tosses.

Each team committed 14 fouls and North made the fewest turnovers, 6-16, a decisive statistic. Roxana held the edge on the boards, recovering 37 rebounds to North's 26.

Scoring for the Steelers were Darrell Page with 27 points, Greg Gauen 14, Mike Waldo 11, Larry Jones and Gene Logas seven each, and Steve Tennage and James Woodward two each.

In next week's regional, the host Kahoks, with an 18-5 regular season record, have received top seeding.

Edwardsville, at 13-11, is seeded second and Collinsville 16-9, is the third-seeded team.

GCIS South has a 2-22 regular season mark, O'Fallon a 6-16 record and Highland 10-12.

After the Warriors open the competition Monday at 7 p.m. against Highland, and after GCIS North and O'Fallon clash Monday at 8:30 p.m., Collinsville will play the winner of the Highland-GCIS South contest at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

On Wednesday, March 5, Edwardsville will meet the winner of the GCIS North-O'Fallon game in a 7:30 p.m. contest.

The victors of Tuesday's and Wednesday's games will meet at 7:30 p.m. Friday, March 7, to decide the regional champion.

The regional victor will advance to a three-day sectional meet, March 11-12-14, at East St. Louis to play the Hillsboro regional winner. Competing there also will be winners from East St. Louis and Belleville East regionals.

The East St. Louis area sectional champion then advances to supersectional action March 16 at Carbondale Central High School to meet the West Frankfort sectional champion and decide a state tourney entry.

In the eight-team state meet March 21-22 at the University of Illinois, Champaign, supersectional champions from Northwestern, DeKalb, Peoria, Carbondale, Normal, East Aurora, Joliet and the Chicago Public League will vie for Class AA state honors.

Of the teams entered at Collinsville next week, GCIS North has topped GCIS South, O'Fallon and Edwardsville in regular season competition and has lost only to Collinsville.

The Warriors have bowed during the season to Edwardsville and North once and Collinsville twice.

In last year's regional, hosted by GCIS South, the Warriors were eliminated on the opening day by the North Steelers. North then lost out in a semifinal game with Edward-

Venice wins; MHS and VHS possibly will play for title

The Illinois High School Association Class AA basketball regional at Dupu will end tomorrow with top-seeded Madison or Freeburg clashing with defending champion Venice or Columbia in the title tilt at 7:30 p.m.

Madison, ranked fifth in the state, drew a first-round bye and will see action at 7 p.m. today against Freeburg, which advanced with a 54-40 victory Tuesday over St. Henry Prep of Belleville.

Venice, ranked second statewide among Class AA schools, rallied in the second quarter of its contest yesterday with Brooklyn Lovejoy and won 62-42. Venice's Red Devils will play Columbia at 6:30 tonight.

Columbia having advanced on an 82-56 win Wednesday over Dupu.

The Red Devils are the only team in this area to reach the finals at Champaign since the inception of Class AA basketball three years ago. Venice placed third in the state in 1973.

In defeating Lovejoy, Venice played to a 11-11 deadlock in the first period after getting off to a slow shooting start.

The Devils were down 17-13, in the second period before hitting eight consecutive field goals for a 29-18 halftime lead.

Venice's shooting percentage continued to improve in the third period for a 42-26 lead and the Devils outscored the Brooklyn players 20-16 in the final period.

Madison's Trojans defeated Venice in overtime this season and are seeking to avenge Madison's 65-57 regional title loss to the Red Devils last year.

Tomorrow's Dupu champion will advance to a super-sectional game March 11 at Eastern Illinois University, Charleston.

The state finals for 736-or-less-enrollment schools will be held March 14-15 at the University of Illinois Assembly Hall.

Schooley going to Illinois State

Granite City High School South football standout Tom Schooley has signed a letter of intent on a football scholarship to attend Illinois State University at Normal. He was recruited by former South grid mentor Wayne Williams, now an assistant coach at ISU.

Schooley, a 6-3, 191-pound wide receiver and running back, caught 13 passes for 224 yards and four touchdowns in his sophomore year. As a junior, he caught 30 passes for 549 yards and five touchdowns.

Hampered during the 1974 season with an ankle injury, the senior was the recipient of 22 passes for 290 yards and three touchdowns. He ran the ball 23 times for 122 yards and two touchdowns.

He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Schooley, 8 Terrace Lane. The elder Schooley, himself a former GCIS football star, is attorney for the Granite City school district.

Mat Cougars conclude year with 10 victories

The Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville wrestling team wound up the regular season during the weekend by splitting a pair of dual meets in the Meridian Ballroom of SIUE's Student Center.

The Cougars dropped an exciting 20-19 decision to the University of Kentucky and then came back to demolish Eastern Illinois University 38-9. SIUE finished the campaign with a 10-5-1 record.

Three seniors made their final home appearance for the Cougars. At 194 pounds, all-American Larry Pruitt of St. Louis took both his matches to improve his record to 19-5-1.

All-American and team captain Mike Taylor, also of St. Louis, pinned his Kentucky opponent at 150 pounds and moved up to 186 to defeat Eastern's Al Ordnez 7-0. Ordnez is also an all-American.

Taylor finished the season at 29-4 with 14 pins.

Senior heavyweight Robin Rummel of Peoria did not wrestle but was on hand for the evening's competition.

Another notable event was a new one-season fall record set by junior Frank Savagnano of Carol Stream, wrestling at 190 pounds, he pinned Eastern's Jim Marsh for his 16th fall of the year, one more than Taylor's old record set last season.

SIUE had a good chance to beat Kentucky and led 14-8 with four matches remaining. But Joe Carr defeated SIUE all-American Dennis Byrne 17-5 at 167 pounds for four team points, and Mike Cassidy pinned the Cougars' Jim McCoy at 177 for six more points.

SIUE closed the gap to 18-17 when Savagnano earned three team points with a victory at 190, but Heavyweight Jerry Washington and Kentucky's Pat Donley fought to a 1-1 draw.

Ice hockey meet to be concluded

The Granite City ice hockey club must get past Edwardsville at 10:30 p.m. tomorrow in a Madison St. Clair High School Ice Hockey Association semifinal contest at the Wilson Park ice rink if it wants a shot at the 1974-75 association tournament championship.

The victor of tomorrow's Granite City-Edwardsville contest will square off on the ice at 10 p.m. Saturday against undefeated Alton in a title clash.

Granite City, in the two-defeat elimination tournament that began this past weekend, advanced to tomorrow's clash with Edwardsville via a 3-2 victory over tomorrow's opponent and a 2-0 loss to Alton. Edwardsville "played alive" last weekend by defeating Wood River 7-2.

Teams eliminated from further competition due to double losses were Collinsville, Alton "B" and Wood River.

Granite City's win over Edwardsville during the weekend was its first in four attempts. The local team has yet to top Alton in five outings.

Alton, in downing Granite City, preserved its record of never having been beaten in the association since it was organized in October 1972. The Alton Flames now have a 39-0-1 composite record.

Haiti missionary projects told

The Rev. Eugene Stevenson, pastor of the Free Methodist Church, presented a program on missionary work in Haiti for the United Presbyterian Women's Association at the First United Presbyterian Church on Tuesday.

The minister showed a film concerning programs directed in Haiti by missionaries.

He related details of a visit there to see his brother-in-law and sister. The former, a dentist and his wife, a registered nurse, are in charge of a clinic in the missionary compound, the Rev. Stevenson said.

The Baptist pastor concluded his presentation with a talk "How to Help Our Nation."

The UPW's quarterly meeting was preceded by a social luncheon in the church dining rooms. Forty-five women attended.

Mrs. Gladys Pape, association president, was in charge of the business session.

Exhibit Jones art March 9

Paintings by a former Granite Cityan will be displayed and Organist Linda Walters will present an all-Bach recital on Sunday, March 9, at Arlington United Methodist Church, 3770 McKelvey Road, Bridgeton, Mo.

Miss Walters is on the music faculty at the Oak Park Academy, Nevada, Ia., and is organist-director of the Grant Park Christian Church, Des Moines.

The organ program is scheduled for 3 p.m.

Throughout the day there will be a display of paintings by Lester Jones of St. Louis, a member of the North State County Art Association and the Independent Artists of St. Louis.

His teachers have been Zora Marabella and Shanka.

A professional photographer for over 50 years, Jones was owner of the Lester Jones Photographic Studio in Granite City and was a school photographer in the St. Louis area for many years.

He taught at the Illinois College of Photography for more than 15 years. The paintings will be on view from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

International Night for BPW Club

An international flavor was noted at the February dinner meeting of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club, with a guest speaker from Pakistan and entertainment by a troupe of Irish dancers setting the pace.

The program theme reflected "International Women's Year" being observed in many countries throughout the world during 1975.

Sixty-five members and guests attending the dinner at Charlie's Restaurant heard Mrs. Saida Razzak of Pakistan discuss traditions of her country. She described the customs of marriage, religion and social standards and recalled events of her childhood years.

To emphasize the international theme, BPW members appeared in authentic costumes representing several foreign countries.

Mrs. Sylvia Wright, vice president, was in charge of the meeting and announced that Miss Annelien Smith, club president, and Mrs. Verna Lengyel currently are in Mexico where ceremonies are taking place in observance of "International Women's Year."

Mrs. Lengyel was replaced as program chairman by Mrs. Emily Alford.

A group of colorfully attired Irish dancers performed several traditional numbers under the direction of East St.

115 big high schools sending wrestlers to state tournament

Wrestlers from 172 schools will converge on the Assembly Hall in Champaign this weekend in quest of individual and team honors in the 1975 Illinois High School Association (IHSA) Class A and Class AA state final wrestling tournament.

Defending Class A champion Savanna stands a good chance to repeat in the small school competition, while a new Class AA winner is practically guaranteed since Olympia Fields (Rich Central) advanced only undefeated Willie Warner (31-0) at 132 pounds from the sectional.

Schools with enrollments of 750 or less are in Class A, where 96 competitors representing 87 schools will be in Champaign.

Schools with enrollments of 751 or more are in Class AA, where 192 competitors representing 115 schools will be in Champaign. These include GCHS South and North.

First-round matches in Class AA warfare will begin at 1 p.m. Friday. Class A first round action begins at 6 p.m., along with Class AA quarterfinals.

Semifinals in both classes, along with wrestlebacks, will take place Saturday afternoon beginning at noon.

Third-place and fifth-place matches will get under way at 6 p.m. Saturday, to be followed by the title bouts, which will be conducted concurrently.

Season tickets at a reduced price are on sale at the Assembly Hall box office or by writing IHSA State Wrestling Tournament Tickets, Room 101, Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill. 61820.

Price of season tickets is $5 for adults and $4 for students of high school age and younger. Single-session tickets, which will go on sale each day, are priced at $1.50 each.

Savanna, Yorkville and Normal (Univ. High) each advanced five wrestlers to the Class A finale. Normal (Univ. High) advanced four sectional champions and one runnerup, while Savanna and Yorkville advanced three champions and a pair of runners-up.

St. Jacob (Triad) qualified four competitors, while Hoopston-East Lynn, Mt. Pulaski, New Lenox (Providence) and Port Byron (Riverdale) each advanced a trio.

Belleville (East) of the rugged Southwestern Conference leads in qualifiers for the Class AA finale with a trio of sectional champions and a trio of runners-up.

Granite City (South, Franklin Park East Leyden) and Pekin each advanced five, while seven schools advanced four. Chicago (Tilden) East Moline, Joliet (East), Maywood (Proviso Wrestlers with perfect records in Class AA include: Doug Schafer of Sterling (33-0) at 96, Keith H. Hertz of Chicago Hts. (Bloom) (30-0) at 98, Willie Staples of Maywood (Proviso East) (29-0) at 106, Herbert Patterson of Chicago (Dunbar) (13-0) at 105.

Bob Baldwin of Belleville (East) (29-0) at 155, Jim Morris of Glen Ellyn (Glenbard South) (32-0) at 155, Robert Fleming of Chicago Hts. (Bloom) (33-0) at 167.

Keith Brandt of Bloomington (H. S.) (34-0) at 185, George Wozniak of Rockford (East) (28-0) at unlimited (heavyweight) and Bob Taylor of Pekin (34-0) at unlimited.

Two of last year's Class AA champions return. Carrollton's Randy Schofield, who won at 112, is 27-3 at 119, while Savanna's Joe Sedwick will defend his 155 title.

At 105, Chenoa's Ernie Garcia (21-1) finished fourth at 98 last year, while Ken Phillips of Bismarck-Henning (21-2) was fourth at 105. Schofield could get a strong challenge from Bill Babe of Port Byron (Riverdale), who was 3rd last year at 112 and is 25-3-1 this season.

In the 167-pound class, Mark Meharry of Tolono (Unity) will try to move up from his second place finish, while Brian Lantz of Stillman Valley (33-1) was third at 155. Hoopston-East Lynn's Tim Drollinger (28-2) finished fourth last year at 185 and returns.

A trio of Class AA champions return: Jim Cizek of Oak Lawn (H. S.), who won at 96 and is 26-1 as a sectional runnerup at 105; Rick Morris of Elk Grove at 132 who won last year at 126 and defending unlimited champion John Gurka of Joliet (East).

Among the other returning place finishers are: Bloom's Keith Hulbert (30-0), who was fourth at 98 last year; 112-pounder Dave Triveline of South Holland (Thorndale), who was second there last year; DeKalb's Al Sullivan at 126, who was second at 119; Kevin Puebla of Moline at 126, who was fourth in that weight last year.

(Hersey), who was third at 138; and a pair of 155-pounders who placed at 145 last year in Greg Moore of Oak Lawn (Richards) and Drew Whitfield of Glenview (Glenbrook South).

New foster parent handbook

A new handbook for foster parents, the product of nearly a year's work by the Department of Children and Family Services staff, foster parents and other child welfare professionals, was mailed during the weekend to 3,500 foster parents, Illinois DCFS Director Mary Lee Leahy reports.

"The handbook's title, 'We Care for Kids,' sums up its purpose," Mrs. Leahy said. "Subjects were carefully selected to include all topics and situations foster parents have to deal with. It is a comprehensive guide to foster parents in their child care roles with the department."

Subjects covered in the 64-page booklet include criteria for licensing foster homes; payment information; rules governing schooling, a religious training, and medical care for foster children; foster parent legal rights and responsibilities; and procedures for filing complaints and grievances.

Past editions of the manual, Mrs. Leahy said, have served as guides to other states' welfare departments in preparation of their own foster parent handbooks.

Members of the Springfield Retired Senior Volunteer Program helped DCFS prepare the manual for mailing at an envelope stuffing "party" held last week.

Brenda Mueller has been named Granite City High School South 1974-75 Betty Crocker Family Leader of Tomorrow. She won the honor by competing with other seniors in the written knowledge and attitude examination in December.

She now is eligible for state and national honors and will receive a specially designed award from General Mills Inc., sponsor of the annual educational scholarship program.

Slate Family Leaders of Tomorrow receive a $1,500 college scholarship while state second-place winners receive a grant of $500. The state winner also earns for his or her school a 20-volume reference work, "The Annals of America," from Encyclopedia Britannica Educational Corp.

In the spring, state winners and their faculty advisors will be the guests of General Mills on an expense-paid educational tour which will include Washington, D.C., and Williamsburg, Va.

A special event of the tour is the announcement of the All-American Family Leader of Tomorrow whose scholarship will be increased to $5,000. Second, third and fourth place winners will receive scholarship increases to $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 respectively.

A $1,000 nutrition scholarship also is available again this year from General Mills. The winner of this grant is a participant in the Betty Crocker Search who is planning a college major in nutrition or a related field, ranks among the highest in his or her state on the overall examination and scores highest on the included nutrition questions.

BRENDA MUELLER

Dental health vital

A multi-media presentation was used during the weekend at the University Seminar at Edwardsville to dramatize the philosophy of the seminar leaders that "the quality of life is enriched by taking care of yourself."

Dr. Joseph M. Sim, chairman of the department of pediatric dentistry of the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville School of Dental Medicine, and Karl Wagnenkecht, USE presidential scholar representing the School of Dental Medicine, used varied audio-visual techniques to present their topic, "Is Oral Health Care a Cultural Prerequisite?"

Utilizing four projectors and dissolving techniques, the speakers presented more than 400 slides during a one-hour lecture in which they alternated as spokesmen. The seminar was held in the Lovejoy Library auditorium.

The program covered the full range of a person's life, from birth to death, emphasizing social interactions "which make life worthwhile" and a person's dependence on good oral health.

According to the speakers, a child suffering from severe oral disease is likely to become a "second class" citizen, severely limited in the number of opportunities of success.

They believe, "It is a significant factor in our culture if dental health deteriorates and oral disease begins to run rampant in a child's mouth."

Simply stated, the ravages of unchecked diseases within the oral cavity can combine with prevalent social attitudes to make the individual suffering from severe oral disease a second-class citizen and severely limit the spectrum of opportunities open to him or her.

The speakers asked, "How many attorneys with blackened stumps of teeth will retain clients? How many secretaries will be hired who exude oral odors that can curl porcupine quills in five seconds?"

"How many teachers can successfully teach a health program to grade school and junior high children but not practice good oral health measures themselves?"

"Which salesclerk will the businessman hire — the one with the clean, bright smile, or the person with ragged, decayed teeth and visible periodontal disease?"

The seminar speakers pointed out that the structures of the mouth are used during all social interactions. "With them, we speak, we pray, we request, demand, and give thanks," they said. "We express love, and spit out anger and aggression, and we express fear and amazement and joy. We laugh, we kiss, and even bite."

"We masticate and swallow food and inhale air and drink a fantastic variety of libations. With healthy teeth and sound supporting dental ridges, a person's face tends to remain younger and more wrinkle-free for a greater number of years."

The lecturers quoted a dental writer who said that even as the Spanish explorer, Ponce de Leon, traveled across the Atlantic seeking the "fountain of youth," he was most probably chewing with it — if his teeth were healthy.

"Teeth serve as historical repositories of the events affecting the progress of the individual as he or she develops and grows from childhood to maturity," Dr. Sim said.

"The foods that we eat, with their minerals and trace elements and sugars taken into the child's body as nutrients, serve to mark the structures of both child and adult teeth in their own peculiar fashion."

Hitting at dietary deficiencies in a typical person's life, the speakers said 80 per cent of babies are started on formula instead of breast feeding.

Quoting Michael Jacobson, a former Ralph Nader food expert, Wagnenkecht said, "So, baby starts out on baby food, and since 15 per cent of these on the market are desserts, you've already begun introducing him to the junk food he'll eat the rest of his life."

"Later on, when you switch on the TV, he'll clamor for the sugar breakfast food cereals that sell for hundreds of millions of dollars every year."

"When he's older, he'll graduate to soda pop and hot dogs which he'll reverie as the great American foods. Later, it'll be alcoholic beverages and steak."

Wagnenkecht added, "The whole thing will come full circle in middle and old age, when the cholesterol buildup in his arteries forms fatty foods and sugar will precipitate a heart attack, stroke or cancer."

"Thus, having lost all of his teeth from eating an average of 100 pounds of sugar a year, he'll be back to eating baby food again."

The seminar leaders said the individual becomes a product of what he or she eats. "If a healthful food and drink pattern has been established, then the child is gifted with a headstart toward dental health," Dr. Sim said.

He concluded by challenging the audience "to assist professionals in dental care to carry the message of better oral health. It will be an action toward happiness, personal prosperity and a youthfulness of outlook that each of us can share in ourselves, as well as pass on as a priceless heritage to our children and grandchildren."

A native of Stretator, Wagnenkecht is a member of the first class of the SIUE School of Dental Medicine and will receive his degree as a doctor of dental medicine in August.

Walker asks U. S. to expedite highway work, coal use

By LESTER BELL
Press-Record
Washington Bureau

Gov. Dan Walker says if President Ford really wants to create jobs in a hurry, he should take restraints off $2 billion in released highway funds and free $9 billion still impounded. While in Washington for the winter meeting of the National Governors' Conference, Walker also said in an interview that the federal administration puts too much emphasis on long-range solutions to the energy crisis rather than taking short-cuts on readily available alternatives, such as Illinois coal.

"I want the President to ask Congress for emergency legislation to permit flexibility in the use of the $2 billion, and release the more than $9 billion impounded, with the same flexibility, to put lots of people to work," Walker said at the Mayflower Hotel, site of the conference.

Walker estimated the Illinois share of the $2 billion at $100 million, based on past allocations.

Walker said he would like to use the state's share to create jobs this spring and summer, but that required environmental impact statements and Washington clearances will hamstring such hopes.

The governor was also critical of the requirement that states must put up 10 per cent to get the 90 per cent matching federal grant.

He suggested a five-year moratorium on this, or until the economic crisis has passed.

Walker pointed out that to get $100 million in federal highway funds, Illinois must put up $10 million. "I have to take it away from the state-only program, the widening and resurfacing of roads, and put it into long lead-time projects," said Walker, alluding to work on the Inter-

Walker insisted that if he were free to use the anticipated $100 million on road work of his choice, such as "dangerous bridges and widening the existing Interstate system," many of the state's unemployed "in three weeks would be out there working."

The governor said President Ford rejected his moratorium on matching grants when he discussed it with him in Topeka, Kan., but the President was responsive to a suggestion that the federal government move faster on using coal.

"I think they are moving too slowly on coal," Walker said. "They ought to get cracking."

Walker said coal conversion, such as gasification and liquefaction — as desirable as the development of the technology is — remains a "long-range" program at this juncture in the energy crisis.

"More federal money should go into scrubbers and intermittent control," he said.

This was a reference to techniques for cleaning coal of its high-sulfur pollution content and burning higher sulfur coal when atmospheric conditions permit.

Walker said intermittent control should be permitted in "non-metropolitan areas" when the burning of high-sulfur coal does not impair public health. Meanwhile, he said, scrubbers should be perfected.

Does he believe environmental restraints on high-sulfur coal will be eased or lifted?

"Yes," he said. "I would think it will come to that."

Cahokia Mounds slides available to groups

Two new educational slide packages are now available to schools and cultural organizations in this area through the Cahokia Mounds Museum. The programs will distribute information about the archaeological and historical aspects of the Cahokia site as well as data concerning other educational resources in the area.

In cooperation with the Cultural Educators Roundtable of Metropolitan St. Louis, the museum is distributing a Bicentennial slide package containing 95 slides with an accompanying text describing the various cultural resources in the area.

In addition to the Cahokia Mounds Museum, the Roundtable membership includes The American Institute of Architects, The Missouri Historical Society, The Museum of Science and Natural History, The St. Louis Art Museum, McDonnell Planetarium, Shaw's Garden, the St. Louis Zoo, The Jefferson National Expansion Memorial, and the St. Louis City and County Public Library systems.

Each of these institutions has contributed slides and explanatory texts to this educational package. The Cahokia Mounds Museum also has developed a slide package devoted exclusively to the Mound site. This package contains slides and text illustrating the prehistoric Indian culture at Cahokia and the archaeological techniques used to explore and study the site. Several pamphlets about Cahokia Mounds are included as part of the package.

Both of these slide packages are available on loan to teachers and leaders of other organizations. They can be obtained free of charge from the Cahokia Mounds Museum.

Birdhouses aid student loan funds

Purchase of a birdhouse from the SIUE Foundation can help send a student to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville next fall, according to Charles Schweizer, director of the foundation.

The investment in a birdhouse will not only build up student loan funds, Schweizer said, it will also provide housing for songbirds this summer.

Otto Wiegand, retired Edwardsville cabinetmaker, constructs bluebird and wren houses for the SIUE Foundation as a hobby.

According to Schweizer, wrens will come back to this area in April, but bluebirds move back into the area and set up housekeeping in early March. Birdhouses are sold for $2 at the foundation office.

Record enrollment in human services—crisis intervention here among programs

Enrollment is setting new records in the human services program of the Delinquency Study and Youth Development Center (DSYDC) of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

In its fifth year, the program has nearly 300 students enrolled, almost twice as many as last year. Original projections estimated a total of 120 students by the end of the fourth year.

Graduates of the program are working toward advanced degrees or have accepted jobs in human service positions in public or private business.

"There's a growing interest among the helping professions in our human services program," according to Robert Gilland, director of the DSYDC. "Our graduates are scattered from coast to coast and in Israel and England, as well as in many business, agency or educational positions in this area."

The "helping" professions are defined as the services and programs offered in the interrelated areas of crime, delinquency, corrections, law enforcement, employment, health, and welfare. The goal of the human services major is to prepare students for employment in these professions through a broadly based, interdisciplinary program.

"Students learn by doing in addition to regular classroom experience," explains Jim Stein, an SIUE faculty member assigned to the DSYDC. "Although they are exposed to faculty lectures, books, journals, film and videotape, there is heavy emphasis on practicums and field visits, and there is a continual flow of visitors to the Center who serve as guest lecturers and resource persons."

The DSYDC staff has evolved three other principles which are important to the human services training mission, according to Stein. "Self awareness is felt to be essential for understanding one's relationship to others; group involvement in decision making is seen as a major force for reforming service organizations and institutions; and the Center is a proponent of the movement toward community-based programs and away from institutionalization," he said.

In the final year of their training, students go out into the community to obtain practical experience by working in responsible positions in social service and corrections agencies in Madison and St. Clair Counties. They are required to complete at least four quarter hours and may earn as many as 12 hours credit for their practicum experience.

"Everything is for real in this program," states Pearl Crowder of Alton, who is doing her practicum as a work adviser for the Manpower Training Program at Alton. "I consider it conditioning for real life."

Jan Tidwell, a native of Cedar Grove, W. Va. who lives at Tower Lake Apartments, sees the human services practicum experience as an opportunity "to become more aware...to gain a diversified and meaningful experience in human relations." Her own experience has included working in the Student Activities Center on campus and completing a social welfare practicum at Delmar Planned Parenthood Clinic in St. Louis before assuming her current practicum role at the Crisis Intervention Service of the Madison County Health Clinic in Granite City.

Other undergraduates are doing their practicums in police departments, detention homes, day care centers, circuit and district courts, University programs, law enforcement agencies, youth recreation programs, and philanthropic organizations such as the Easter Seal Society.

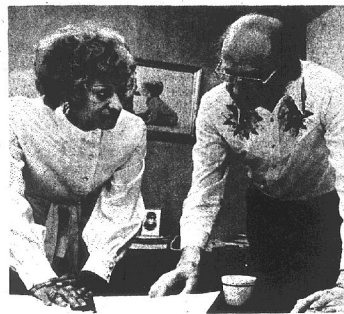

Three graduates of the human services program have positions with the City of East Alton. Ron Randall, chief of police and Andy Nalefski, juvenile coordinator, are both in Graduate School at SIUE.

Dave Hopkins, also a human services graduate, is an administrative intern in the city government.

DSYDC personnel indicate the jobs at East Alton are typical of the increasing interest in graduates with the human services degree. "There is a substantial demand for our graduates," Gilland said. "Agencies and the business world apparently appreciate an employee who has been prepared specifically for work in the helping professions."

HUMAN SERVICES PRACTICUM—Pearl Crowder of Alton, who is majoring in the human services program of the Delinquency Study and Youth Development Center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, reviews her practicum requirements with Robert Gilland, director of the DSYDC. She is a work adviser for the Manpower Training Program at Alton.

Modern Music Masters to induct new members

The Granite City High School North chapter of the Modern Music Masters Society will induct 24 new student members in an initiation ceremony at 7 p.m. Monday in the vocal music room.

Bill Patterson, chapter president, will preside at the ceremony. He will be assisted by the other officers: Tom Wilkerson, vice-president; Judy Rash, secretary; Becky Flanagan, treasurer; and Carolyn Goldsach, historian.

To be eligible for membership in Modern Music Masters, a candidate must have been enrolled in the local music department in a performing group for at least one semester; he must have maintained for the last semester at least a "B" grade in music, with at least a "C" average grade in academic subjects; he must be of excellent character and should have a good attitude toward teachers and fellow students, and show cooperation and service to his class and school.

Mrs. Gail Mueller, faculty sponsor, said that the object of the Modern Music Masters Society is to foster a greater and continued interest in solo, ensemble, band, orchestral, and choral performance; to encourage better and more discriminating habits in listening to and in the performance of musical literature; to provide wider and more frequent opportunities for personal musical expression in the schools, churches, civic organizations, and social service clubs of the community; to

Michael J. Howlett, secretary of state, this week discussed his plans for a test that he hopes will result in considerable savings in the cost of Illinois license plates.

Howlett said he has bought 200 sets of plates produced through a special photographic process by Agco Corp., Des Plaines.

According to Agco board chairman Herbert C. Winske, the process allows plates to be produced ten to 15 cents a set cheaper than standard metal stamping methods.

Depending on the availability of aluminum, the metal from which the licenses are to be made, the price may drop even more in future years, Winske said. He added that through use of aluminum, the thickness could be increased almost three times without any increase in the plate's weight.

Except for color, the plates look little different from those displayed on Illinois cars and trucks. They bear dark red numbers and letters on a light grey background, and the complete plate is reflectORIZED, Howlett said.

He plans to place the sample plates on his own investigators' squad cars to see how they wear under heavy highway use through December 1975.

Other sets will be sent to independent laboratories for more scientific testing.

"After we take a look at the road and review the data collected by the technicians," Howlett said, "we will be in a better position to evaluate this method of production."

The contract for production of license plates is administered by the Illinois Department of General Services. It is let each year after the department has solicited competitive bids from all potential suppliers.

As in the case of other purchases, the contract is awarded to the manufacturer able to supply the product, meeting a series of prescribed specifications, at the lowest cost to the state.

Howlett said these specifications would not have to be changed in order for Agco or any other firm—capable of producing reflectORIZED plates through photographic methods—to be considered.

Stallings PTA marks 30th year

Stallings Parent-Teacher Association observed its 30th anniversary by honoring past presidents and conferred awards on pupils who excelled in a sales program at a meeting last week at the school.

Mrs. Wilma Bowen, currently serving as PTA president for her second term, welcomed the past officers, PTA members and other guests and led the pledge of allegiance.

Ralph Craycraft, who served as president in 1971-72, read the PTA Prayer.

The past presidents were introduced and each briefly recounted highlights of his or her year in office.

Past PTA executives attending the Founders' Day program were: Mrs. Leona McCoy, 1947-48; Edwin Hessel, 1949-50; Elmer Stille, 1954-55; Mrs. Irene Karlechik, 1957-58; Mrs. Emma Relleke, 1959-60; Mrs. Doris Malone, 1961-62; Charles Bringer, 1964-65; Craycraft, 1971-72; and Burke Campbell, 1972-73.

Congratulating the Stallings pupils who participated in the successful candy sales drive, Mrs. Bowen said the students sold approximately $3,400 worth of candy and realized a profit of about $1,100.

The funds will be used to benefit all Stallings students by helping to pay the expenses incurred on educational field trips, the PTA president noted.

Pupils earning "top salesmen" awards were Wendy Robinson, who sold the largest amount of candy; and Kevin Patterson, Gerald Bowen, Billie Jo Turner, Jim Haldeman, Debbie Paoli, Tracy Heimback and Greg McLard.

Students whose sales totaled more than $50 each, include Diane Brockman, Roger Pemberton, Vicky Dawkins, Dixie Meyer, Dal Alexander, Kelly Ebmeyer, Keri Halkamp, Johnny Norton, Robert Stewart, Harold Pace, Michelle Wallace, Johnny Orear, Jeff Scott, Stacy Stoyanoff and Tommy Kaminski.

The room attendance award was presented to the second grade class of Mrs. Shumette Maier. Prizes also were won by Mrs. Audrey Hibbing and Mrs. Pat Ebmeyer.

A skating party planned earlier this week was discussed by third grade room mothers, Mrs. Becky Williams, Mrs. Kay Orear and Mrs. Gretchen Luehmann, assisted by other mothers of third grade pupils.

Mrs. Bowen was aided in cutting the decorated anniversary cake, topped with the numeral "30", by Mrs. Leona McCoy who served as Stallings PTA president 20 years ago.

About 100 members and guests were present at the Founders' Day celebration.

Appraisers to meet

A monthly meeting of the Southern Illinois Chapter 152 of the Society of Real Estate Appraisers will be held Tuesday at Augustine's Restaurant, Belleville, at 7:15 p.m.

All persons actively engaged in the appraisal of real estate as a profession are invited.

30TH ANNIVERSARY of Stallings Parent-Teacher Association, observed in a Founders' Day program at the school, was highlighted by the presence of 10 past presidents, including Mrs. Leona McCoy, right, PTA president in 1947-48. She is assisted in cutting the cake by Mrs. Wilma Bowen, current president.

Interest in Ill. coal conversion

The American Lurgi Corp., which handles the State's $70 million bond program for coal development, Heden began his Illinois assignment at Washington in November.
Besides Illinois, Heden has a number of clients interested in oil and synthetic fuels. He has never had a "state involvement" before and Illinois is his first and only state client.
"There's definitely been a conflict of interest if I had another state as a client," Heden acknowledged. He added that the states are just now beginning to recognize the potential economic impact that coal-conversion technologies will have.
Heden, 45, was employed for 12 years by Process Plants Corp., New York, before starting his own independent consulting firm. At Process, he was first a project engineer and then chief executive officer of the firm's Government Division.
He has served since 1969 as energy consultant to such firms as Westinghouse Research, Cities Service Oil, Standard Oil of Indiana and Hydrocarbon Research, Inc.
Talks with American Lurgi, an offshoot of German Lurgi, have not reached contract discussion.
"American Lurgi, meanwhile, would like to start discussions before a formal proposal is made to Illinois to build a research and development center," Heden said.
The plant could run "Anywhere from $12 million to $21 million" and be in operation in 1977. The prospective site is not known at this time.
Explaining the background of the Lurgi method, Heden said German Lurgi developed it in the 1940s to convert coal to synthetic gas to run Germany's war industry.

"Lurgi is a process that is commercially viable," Heden emphasized. He said there are other coal-conversion processes that "appear attractive" but have been tried only in "limited demonstrations."
"No U. S. corporation would build a full-scale plant for an untried technology," he said.
"Therefore, many U. S. companies have been talking to American Lurgi Corp."
Heden "understands" that the firm has signed six contracts in the U. S. for test plants and is only awaiting Federal Power Commission approval to go ahead.
The still tentative Lurgi plant in Illinois would test various coals for those U. S. companies interested in building a Lurgi plant. It would use Illinois' coal, eliminating the high sulfur content in converting it to synthetic gas.
Heden said Lurgi already has run tests on Illinois No. 5 and No. 6 coal.
"Illinois is very attractive to Lurgi," he said. "If Lurgi makes a formal proposal, it would go to the Illinois Energy Resources Board for approval."
Noting heightened interest by coal states in conversion technologies, he added:
"Gov. Walker has been aggressive in recognizing this competition, and aware of the need for new technologies to get Illinois coal moving again."

Besides Illinois, Heden has a number of clients interested in oil and synthetic fuels. He has never had a "state involvement" before and Illinois is his first and only state client.
"There's definitely been a conflict of interest if I had another state as a client," Heden acknowledged. He added that the states are just now beginning to recognize the potential economic impact that coal-conversion technologies will have.
Heden, 45, was employed for 12 years by Process Plants Corp., New York, before starting his own independent consulting firm. At Process, he was first a project engineer and then chief executive officer of the firm's Government Division.
He has served since 1969 as energy consultant to such firms as Westinghouse Research, Cities Service Oil, Standard Oil of Indiana and Hydrocarbon Research, Inc.
Talks with American Lurgi, an offshoot of German Lurgi, have not reached contract discussion.
"American Lurgi, meanwhile, would like to start discussions before a formal proposal is made to Illinois to build a research and development center," Heden said.

Deborah Hintz becomes Mrs. David Stoppkotte

Miss Deborah Marie Hintz, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Hintz, 19 Georgetown Drive, became the bride of David H. Stoppkotte, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard H. Stoppkotte, 2444 Dewey Avenue, in a civil ceremony on Feb. 22 at the Bethel Evangelical Free Church, 2450 Stratford Lane.

Tall, thin, holding white gladioli and mums, intermingled with greenery, adorned the altar for the double ring service at 6:30 in the evening. The Rev. Robert Widin officiated.

Miss Beth Browning, sang "The Wedding Song," accompanied by Miss Brenda Bachs at the piano.

A reception was held in the church fellowship hall immediately following the service. Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a long white jersey gown fashioned in an Empire silhouette. Floral Venise-lace formed a scalloped border on the bodice and created the high neckline.

Matching lace encircled the Empire waist and the cuffs of the long sleeves. Her skirt fell in a sweep train. She wore a camel headdress of Venise lace etched with pearls to secure a satin and lace edged veil, fingertip length. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and daisies.

Miss Sheila Hintz, a sister of the bride, served as honor attendant. She chose a pink tulle gown designed in Empire style. Decorative lace trimmed the square neckline and created a bib effect on the bodice.

The bridesmaids, Miss Valeria Sladek of Wood River and Mrs. Janet Weeks of New Orleans, La., a sister of the groom, wore identically fashioned gowns in blue fabric.

Each carried a bouquet of pink carnations and daisies.

Jack Dawson of Glen Carbon served as best man. Thomas E. Dodd, the groom's uncle, assisted Steve Dodd, a cousin, were groomsmen and usher.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted at Cline's Restaurant, the evening preceding the wedding. Both young people are graduates of Granite City High School. The former Miss Hintz presently is employed as a secretary at the U. S. Army Aviation Systems Command in St. Louis.

Her husband is attending Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

They are now residing in Granite City.

Out-of-town guests here for the wedding were Mrs. B. R. Elford and son, Brett, an aunt and cousin of the bride from Rochester, Minn., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weeks of Dexter, Mo.

LADIES! HAVE YOU HEARD?

DO YOU KNOW WHO IS PLANNING YOUR FUTURE FOR YOU? ARE YOU SURE THEY ARE PLANNING WHAT YOU REALLY WANT? IF NOT, IT'S TIME TO WAKE UP AND SPEAK UP! THE HOUR IS LATE!

ARE YOU SURE YOU WANT TO BE "LIBERATED"?

God created you and gave you a beautiful and exalted place to fill. No woman in history has ever enjoyed such privileges, luxuries, and freedom as you have today. You are a minority of one, a "female" in a male world. You are a "woman" in a man's world. You are determined to "liberate" you—whether you want it or not.

What is "liberation"? You—women in Cuba. Castro "liberated" Cuba, didn't he?

WHAT IS THE EQUAL RIGHTS AMENDMENT?

On March 22, 1972, the U.S. House of Representatives passed the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA) and sent it to the states for ratification. If it is ratified by 38 states, it will become a part of the U.S. Constitution, giving women the same rights as men. The ERA is the most important piece of legislation since the Civil War, and it is the only one that has not yet been ratified.

The Amendment reads: "Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex." Simple, isn't it? BUT HAVE YOU LOOKED AT THE HORROR INSIDE THE BILL?

THE MOST DRASTIC MEASURE

Senator Sam Ervin called the ERA "the most drastic measure in Senate history." Why? Because it strikes at the very foundation of our society, and the home is the foundation of our nation. You can possibly undo what has been built up over the years by the ERA. NOT A CHANCE!

Actually, it is a Loss of Rights Amendment. Now will it affect YOU?

DO YOU WANT TO LOSE YOUR RIGHT NOT TO WORK?

If you are married, you may choose to work outside your home. But you may choose to stay at home, to rear your children, to be supported by your husband. The ERA will take this right away from you. It will require you to work outside your home, and if you don't, you will lose your right to be supported by your husband. You can be forced to support half the family support, or all of it. You are a better wage earner (pp. 344, 345, Yale Law Journal, which was inserted in the Congressional Record by Senator Birch Bayh, leading proponent of ERA).

What about your children? You can be forced to put them in a day care center, if one is available. And to use that one is available is a major goal of the National Organization for Women (NOW)—leaders in the movement to ratify the Equal Rights Amendment.

Under the ERA, if a wife fails to support her husband, he can sue her for divorce (Yale Law Journal, p. 351).

This can work a special hardship on women who have spent their lives rearing their families and are not prepared to enter the job market.

WILL THE ERA HELP DIVORCED WOMEN?

Divorced women will lose the customary right of child custody, child support, and/or alimony, and can be forced to pay child support and alimony, if her husband wins custody of the children (Yale Law Journal, p. 352).

WHAT ABOUT OTHER EFFECTS ON FAMILY LIFE?

Wife and children will not be required to wear the name of husband and father. They can choose any name they wish. Can you imagine the resulting confusion?

According to leading law crusaders, the ERA will permit nonmarital "marry" and adopt children.

DO YOU WANT TO LOSE YOUR RIGHT TO PRIVACY?

The aim of NOW and other pro-ERA groups is to totally "desegregate" everything. Professor Paul Freund, Harvard Law School, testified that "ERAs will require that there be no segregation of the sexes in public schools, public restrooms, and other public places."

This includes all public schools, college dormitories, and hospital rooms.

DO YOU WANT YOUR HUSBAND TO SLEEP IN BARRACKS WITH WOMEN?

If your husband is in the armed forces, or a seaman, what can you expect under ERA? He will be housed in separate facilities—so your husband will be sharing sleeping quarters, restrooms, showers, and/or facilities with women.

DO YOU WANT TO LOSE YOUR RIGHT NOT TO BE DRAFTED?

Some women are crying for "equal rights" in the armed forces. But do you want them to abolish your right NOT to be drafted? ERA will do this. All women will register for military service at the age of 18. If you have small children, "whichever parent was called first might be eligible for service; the remaining parent, male or female, would be deferred" (Yale Law Journal, p. 350).

DO YOU WANT TO LOSE YOUR RIGHT TO YOUR VOICE BE STRONG AND CLEAR?

At women's rallies, Russia is proudly cited as a country where women have equal rights. Harry Truman, staff writer, told Douglas, married Moscow and described just how "great" it is in A. Times, Dec. 23, 1970: "The women do the work the men tell them how to do. Like sweeping the streets, raking, collecting garbage, building dams, digging ditches and mining coal... then she must spend 100% of her life in the home, raising and cooking. She can expect little help from her husband."

A Russian woman in New York put her baby in a state-supported child care unit. She (as well as men) can be jailed for refusing to engage in "socially useful labor" or for leading a "parasitic way of life."

This is a living picture of "liberation!"

CAN A STATE REVOKE ITS RATIFICATION OF ERA?

Absolutely! When 38 states ratify the ERA, it will become the 27th Amendment to the U. S. Constitution. At one time, 33 states had ratified. Nebraska and Tennessee have rescinded their ratification.

Nebraska's state can change its mind either way before the amendment is officially declared to be ratified" (Prof. Charles L. Black, Jr., Yale University Law School, Congressional Record, May 9, 1973, p. 3522).

WHAT CAN YOU DO ABOUT IT?

1. Find out where your state now stands in the Equal Rights Amendment.

2. Write to your state Legislators are (you can call your local Democratic or Republican Headquarters). Write them. Ask them to ratify the ERA. Tell them that if they don't speak for you, nor for most women, Ask your friends to write.

3. If possible, sign your representatives personally.

4. Work to inform as many people as possible (copies of this article available, 50 for $2.00; 100 for $3.50. Add .50 for postage).

(NOTE: Proponents and opponents alike recognize the Yale Law Journal, Vol. 80, No. 5, April, 1971, herein used as documentation, to be an accurate analysis of the meaning and effects of the Equal Rights Amendment. Congressman Morris Griffith, leading proponent, gave a copy to each member of Congress).

Winter Wonderland United Way emphasizes local control

By BILL WINTER

The Tri-Cities Area United Way enjoys considerable public support, judging by the smashing success of its last two annual campaigns.

Efforts are being made at present to further improve the program, through consultation with agencies and with the citizens who give to and are helped by the United Way.

New budgeting methods also have been devised and appear to be not only meeting with general approval but also aiding in the avoidance of duplication, assuring that a full dollar's value is obtained for each dollar contributed.

The United Way is a voluntary effort developed over the years to meet three goals: to raise funds efficiently, to allocate those funds effectively, and to plan and coordinate human service programs.

The United Way here is the local expression of the national United Way movement.

There are United Way campaigns in 2,241 communities raising more than $900 million each year. Local contributors to finance 36,000 local, state and national health, welfare and recreation services which serve 31 million families.

The October 1974 campaign for 1975 operations raised $456,661 from a population of 72,000 persons, plus many local employees, to finance 18 member agencies serving this area.

Numerous volunteers serve on agency programs, in the annual campaign, on boards and committees guiding the agency administration, and in money necessary for agencies to operate their programs, and setting policy for agencies and the United Way organization.

The United Way is an autonomous, non-profit corporation formed by the people of the Tri-Cities Area. Its duties are to:

1. Stimulate interest and mobilize citizen-aid in behalf of worthy member agencies whose purpose it is to supply human services to the community.
2. Conduct a single annual campaign and to receive funds for its agencies.
3. Administer the funds raised and distribute them to its agencies on the basis of approved budgets.
4. Encourage the efficiency of agency administration and the effectiveness of their services by regular contact, periodic review and annual audits.
5. However, the United Way does not exist for the purpose of administering the internal procedures of its member agencies.

In summary, it seeks to provide the means by which a cross-section of citizens and agencies, governmental and voluntary, may join in a community-wide effort to deliver human services programs related to its current needs.

The board of directors employs the executive director. The authority to employ other personnel rests with the executive director in accord with an approved budget.

Major responsibilities of the staff are that of implementing policies and procedures for serving by the board through its executive committee, serving as resource to the board and key committees; developing a fund-raising program within the framework of a volunteer campaign structure.

Also, maintaining administrative responsibility for the management of the annual campaign operating budget, and the financial, personnel, equipment and accounting of all funds raised in the annual campaign.

The board usually meets four times a year, unless additional meetings are necessary.

The schedule for recent years has included the annual meeting in February, a goal-setting meeting in July, and an election and approval meeting in December.

Policies for operation of the United Way are established by the board, which are elected by the contributors.

Much of the detail work of the United Way is accomplished through committees and staff, which report regularly to the directors at meetings and by mail.

The executive committee of the United Way's board meets on call to conduct the United Way's business.

While executive committee action is ultimately subject to approval and ratification by the board, it functions for the board between meetings of the directors.

The executive committee consists of the elected officers of the United Way, the immediate past presidents and three other members appointed from the board.

The budget and allocations committee's functions are delegated by the executive committee, through which it is responsible to the United Way board.

Its primary role is to review and study budget estimates submitted by agencies for financing in relation to their programs and in relation to the fiscal needs of all other agencies receiving support from the United Way. Committee recommendations are channeled through the executive committee to the board.

Committee representation includes a broad mix of the community's men and women with varying backgrounds and experience. The present budget committee numbers 15.

Budgeting is a year-round process and consists basically of three phases:

- (1) Pre-Campaign - Agencies submit estimates of the funds they will need from the United Way during the next calendar year. This subsidizes the need for the campaign goal.
- (2) Post-campaign - Agencies submit detailed budgets for the funds they will need from the United Way for the ensuing year.

The pre-campaign budgeting series is accomplished generally without conferences with agencies; the post-campaign review includes a conference between representatives of the agency and members of the budget and allocation committee.

- (3) Interim - The committee meets at times of the year with agency representatives to consider requests for budget revisions occasioned by circumstances that could not be foreseen when the original budget was approved.

The United Way is not a chapter of any state or national fund-raising organization. It is a voluntary organization of the United Way of America, as such, holds voluntary membership in the United Way of America.

The United Way of America is a national organization set up to provide staff service to its member organizations every phase of local, United Way operation.

Whether in general areas like campaigning, budgeting and planning, or in specific, such as setting up an accounting system, expertise is available.

The United Way also secures national publicity for local United Ways under a national theme, United Community Campaigns, enhancing local identification through widely used slogans and symbols.

Member organizations of the United Way of America are also, by virtue of United Way's support, members of the National Information Bureau.

The Bureau's main purposes are to maintain standards in its field of philanthropy, and aid in giving through the provision of information and advisory services for contributors.

Also, the Bureau's focus is that of a contributor believing he has the right to expect and get full service to society for each dollar given.

Its program includes the promotion of basic standards that every organization seeking support from the public should meet, and analysis of philanthropic organizations against the standards "yardstick" to determine and report when they do or do not meet them.

The Tri-Cities Area United Way has a 34-year history, including such previous organizations as the Community Chest and United Fund.

Past presidents were: C. W. Hoelscher, H. O. Lovett, B. E. Hohl and K. Karandeff during the 1940s, followed in the 1950s by Harold R. Fischer, Edwin J. Wagner, Wesley Luaders, E. G. Schmitt, Harry C. Swan, Forrest L. Harding, Arthur Laur and Earle Layman.

United Way presidents in the 1960s were Gilbert Sykes, Thomas Sullivan, the Rev. Calvin Marcum, Sidney Aubrey, Nicholas R. Brink, Joseph Glick, Al P. Steinhilber and H. D. Karandeff.

George Becker was the president in 1971-72, Melvin O. McKay in 1972-73 and Paul H. Kelly from 1973 until last week, when M. B. Milonski was elected.

Kelly said at the latest contributors' meeting that the best move made during his tenure was the selection of "Peter" Nasir as executive director. The current uptrend in the United Way outlook has coincided with the time span of Kelly's and Nasir's involvement.

Retiring President Kelly stressed that the "hanging sword" of causing changes in each community that place ever-increasing importance on keeping United Ways broadly based and closely attuned to current wishes and needs.

Woman clinics helpful aid by GC clinic, says more space needed immediately

To the Editor:

I want to let the community know how fortunate we are to have the Mental Health Clinic and its agencies available to us. I have never met more helpful and compassionate people.

The Mental Health Clinic has many operations. One is helping emotionally upset people through psychologists and psychiatrists.

They also operate a day hospital, a family development clinic, a community outreach and referral service and a crisis intervention team, and are starting a new program especially for adolescents.

These programs range from family problems to severe physical abuse, alcohol and drug abuse, suicide prevention, helping disturbed children, etc. Just about every human need can be helped or referred to an agency for help through our Mental Health Clinic in Granite City.

Their help has been of such magnitude to so many that it can hardly be measured. The staff is extremely dedicated. For example, one member of the Crisis Intervention Team recently spent his day off to help me admit my terminally ill husband to the Veterans Administration Hospital because the trauma was too much for me alone.

These people are on call 24 hours a day, seven days a week, to help in any crisis, including drugs and suicide.

They are probably called in the middle of the night more often than most doctors.

Many lives have been saved and piece back together by the team.

Our mental Health Clinic is in extreme need of more space now, and in the future it needs a new and larger building.

It is with great pride that I have followed the Press-Record's coverage of the Granite High South girls' volleyball team this year.

Eventually, it progressed to the "twelve sixteen" of the Illinois state tournament. To go so far successfully is no accident.

It is the result of the excellent physical education program in the Granite City elementary schools and in the women's physical education department at the junior and senior high schools.

These fine programs make "physical education" a part of the total education of a person, just as many laps around the gym or a game of "bom-

A sequence of skills is developed over many years of elementary, junior and senior high P.E. classes.

This program is the result of years of hard work, knowledge, and the ability to convince others of the need for such a program. The person mainly responsible for all this is Barbara Kerch.

Miss Kerch has been an educator first, and the winning teachers have developed naturally.

Her concern for hiring teachers with top qualifications, genuine concern for students and a genuine outlook toward women's P.E. is part of her plan.

The spectators at the tournament volleyball games saw a fine example of poise and beauty under pressure in Miss Wilma Schulze, volleyball coach.

Recently, the Press reported that the women's bowling team has also had the distinction of competing at the state level.

As a former student of Miss Kerch, I recall her repeating over and over, "You get out of something as much as you put into it." Now I appreciate what she meant.

She is a living example of that philosophy. Thanks, Miss Kerch.

The need for this type of help is growing astronomically in our world today.

I understand that one building is being acquired now for the day hospital, but more space is still needed now, and more space should be appropriated.

We need action to acquire these facilities.

If anyone is interested in helping in any way, please contact one of the local directors.

Board meetings are on the first Thursday of each month at the clinic, 2024 State St., Granite City, at 7:30 p.m. They are open to the public.

For more information, please mail 877-4420.

People need people. Readers, please respond now to keep and expand this program. Support those who are working and ready to help you and your loved ones.

Vicious crimes committed here by fraudulent 'officers'

A knock on the door by a man attired in what appeared to be a policeman's uniform led to the rape of a Pontoon Road housewife Feb. 22. A pistol was held to her two-year-old son's head at one point during the man's stay at the apartment.

The intruder initially had asked about next-door neighbors, mentioning their first names. When he said he wanted to ask about them, he was admitted to the apartment by the woman, who thought it was in reference to a recent burglary. It was after she ended an interrupted telephone conversation that he displayed a gun.

Two days later, on Feb. 24, robbers who broke down a door at a Highway 162 residence shouted that they were agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The home owner, Dean Little, obeyed a loaded gun but dropped it when told he was "under arrest."

The unwelcome visitors then looted his dwelling of furnishings valued at $10,000 and caused damage exceeding $3,000. In seeking a non-existent safe, they tied his wrists and ankles, menaced him with a pistol against his head and struck him on the side of the head.

Such vicious occurrences make an obvious point — that Quad-Cityans should demand credentials from supposed officers before assuming they are bonafide investigators.

The two apparently unrelated crimes also call attention to a fact that both petty criminals, and mass murderers have demonstrated: That most people are trusting, and often can be maneuvered into a vulnerable situation through a bit of contrived conversation.

There may be no defense adequate for all circumstances, particularly the unexpected. But the warning is clear that nothing can be taken for granted, and that local residents should exert all reasonable precautions both at their homes and when traveling about.

Quad-Cityans saddened by death of G. R. 'Rusty' Clarke

The death Feb. 21 at Alton Memorial Hospital of G. Russell Clarke, 78, saddens many Quad-Cityans.

A resident of Florissant formerly living in Godfrey, "Rusty" Clarke was general superintendent of the Laclede Steel Co. before retiring. Associated primarily with the Alton plant, he also was active in supervision of Laclede's Madison plant and was a regular visitor at the Madison Rotary Club for a number of years.

Mr. Clarke was active in a large number of charitable projects both in the Alton area and the Quad-Cities. And in his 44-year career with Laclede Steel, from 1919 to 1963, he was a major contributor to that firm's strength and growth.

For a better image, improve Assembly procedures—Dixon

Decatur Herald — State Treasurer Alan J. Dixon delivered his inaugural address to a joint session of the 79th General Assembly in late January.

He was re-elected to that position in November with a winning margin of 82,000 votes, the most one-sided ballot box victory for a state office in Illinois history.

What Mr. Dixon said was sensitive and sensible.

But it was mostly unnoticed, because it came so soon after resolution of the House speakership contest and at about the same time Gov. Daniel Walker's proposed two-year capital spending plan was beginning to gain Statehouse and statewide attention.

The message deserves more attention because of what it had to say to the legislature.

Mr. Dixon counseled his Democratic colleagues who now are a majority in House and Senate to "be kind to the minority," for the Democrats surely "will be one again someday."

He suggested the kindness should include a willingness to be independent and to listen to all sides of the argument on every bill, rather than acting on the basis of what legislative leaders and party caucuses dictate or state executives decree.

"Remember," he added, that another argument "just could be right" despite what one's own leaders and political party

The treasurer, who is a veteran of 20 years service in the House and Senate, also urged lawmakers to "immediately take the hard but necessary steps to improve the image of the legislature."

Ways must be found to achieve a more "orderly disposition of the legislature's business throughout the session," with special emphasis on avoiding the tragic last-minute rush that has brought this General Assembly into such deep disrepute.

That means "firm, inflexible rules" should be adopted in each chamber and jointly to get the legislature's business in better order and, by June 30, Mr. Dixon properly emphasized.

Abolish duplicate legislation in both houses, he added.

And establish mandatory deadlines for bill introduction, committee consideration and disposition on the floor of each chamber.

Make no exceptions to the legislature's rules, he said, for the House speaker, the Senate president or even Daniel Walker, Michael Howlett, Neil Harlgren, William J. Saris, George Lindberg or Alan Dixon.

If there are real emergencies needing the lawmakers' attention, he suggested, deal with them in a special session rather than making exceptions to the rules for the regular conduct of business.

Mr. Dixon also said again that he's not sure the legislature needs annual, open-ended sessions.

He pledged he will work to have a measure on the November 1976 ballot that would ask voters to decide whether legislative sessions in even-numbered years should be limited to reviewing the state budget.

Finally, the treasurer cautioned the General Assembly to "be skeptical of every bill that seems to suggest more spending than necessary in even-numbered years should be limited to reviewing the state budget."

While the state might be able to get through fiscal 1976 (ending June 30, 1977) without any new revenue, he warned, "if a substantial character," he observed, "that is about the end of the good news."

The state's budgetary reserves are being drained and there's a possibility growth of state income and sales tax revenues will slow even further because of recession.

The importance of that for years beyond fiscal 1976 could be serious, he warned.

Treasurer Dixon's inaugural address was a needed call upon the legislature to get its own houses in better order and, by implication, a suggestion to all state officials to give the legislature a chance to do that.

That's sound advice and we applaud Mr. Dixon for his willingness to be so publicly

All-out opposition to Kissinger by Stevenson

Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson, D-Ill., in a galling denunciation of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's foreign policy, casts him as a puppet master over Presidents Nixon and Ford.

Stevenson's ire is raised by what he regards as Kissinger's attempts to blame Congress for the secretary's own failures in foreign policy.

Stevenson vents this in a long statement in the Congressional Record, which has aides made sure got into the hands of reporters.

The senator from Illinois cites a litany of complaints against Kissinger, declaring at the outset: "Now that history has stripped the policies of Henry Kissinger of their pretensions of grandeur and his actions of their pretensions to success, the secretary is casting the blame upon Congress."

Stevenson says Congress does not seek a major role in formulation and implementation of foreign policy and is not equipped to exercise such power, but says it is being forced to rectify Kissinger's "abuses" of power and "calamitous" judgments.

"History has overtaken the personal diplomacy of Henry Kissinger," Stevenson declares. "Impressions of members of Congress and the press have awakened to the truth: 'The personal diplomacy of Secretary Kissinger is threatening to make the United States the apparition Mr. Nixon most feared—a pitiful, helpless giant.'"

It is in this context that Stevenson says Kissinger literally set himself over two Presidents.

"The great western alliance is in disarray, a casualty of vest-pocket diplomacy, bilateral maneuvering in Moscow and Peking and neglect," he asserts.

The truth is that the personal diplomacy of Secretary Kissinger, and the Presidents who have served under him, has left little time for U. S. interests in Europe or indeed the remainder of the world."

Stevenson said the peripatetic secretary of state has left a trail of "promises—along with cash, credits, nuclear reactors and arms" which raise expectations only to disappoint them.

"A great power does not pursue its interests with bribes, false promises and gesticulations upon the stage of world opinion," Stevenson said.

He insists that Congress is not to blame for the Soviet repudiation of the 1973 trade agreement, strained relations with Turkey and Greece over Cyprus, the weakening of the flank of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the "inevitable" fall of Indochina, the dilemma over Mainland China and Nationalist China, the Middle East Tinder Box, intervention in Chile, the "tilt" in the Indo-Pakistani war and other misuses abroad.

"Congress is to blame for the deterioration of America's position in the world, but not for reasons assigned by the secretary of state," Stevenson continues.

Junior Achievers' trade fair Friday and Saturday

Thurs., Feb. 27, 1975 Page 47

Teenage businessmen and women who have created their own miniature corporations will be holding a "Going Into Business Sale" at the St. Clair Square Shopping Center, Fairview Heights, this weekend.

Participating will be Junior Achievers from the Quad-Cities and the remainder of the metropolitan area.

Beginning at 8 p.m. Friday and continuing all day Saturday, nearly 100 Junior Achievement companies will be selling products they have manufactured.

All proceeds will go to the individual JA companies. The nearly 8,000 high school students who participate in Junior Achievement of the Mississippi Valley learn about business by actually organizing and operating small corporations.

The corporations raise capital by selling stock. They decide on a product to manufacture and sell, elect corporate officers, and pay themselves wages, salaries and commissions. The business cycle is completed in May when the companies liquidate.

All is done with the guidance of volunteer advisers from area business and industry.

The trade fair this weekend will give the public an opportunity to "take advantage of some real bargains" as well as a chance to see JA in action, a spokesman said.

There will be a special booth for product-manufacturing demonstrations.

The large enclosed mall at the St. Clair Square will take on the air of a street bazaar for the occasion.

On sale will be a myriad of items ranging from belts to barbecue grills, from hanging baskets to hurricane lamps, all the result of the work of the JA

"corporations" set up in September.

The Achievers, from St. Louis, South St. Louis, Webster Groves, East St. Louis, Granite City and Cahokia centers, will man the demonstration booth on the mall showing how some of their products were manufactured.

The national JA program, founded in 1919 to give high school students an inside look at American business, calls for groups of students to establish "companies" for the school year, decide on products to make or services to provide, and then work together to make the business a success.

The students sell stock in their respective corporations for $1 a share, go through all of the steps necessary to operate a business, including buying raw materials, paying for necessary labor and rent, merchandising their products and paying taxes.

Counsel in establishing and operating a profit-making business is provided by advisers from such blue-chip area corporations as Anheuser-Busch, Granite City Steel, Illinois Power Co., McDonnell Douglas and Pet. Inc.

According to John Harbur, a J.A. program coordinator, when the school year ends the young tycoons balance their books, distribute any profits among their stockholders and liquidate the businesses.

"National statistics show that approximately 75 per cent of the Junior Achievement firms realize a profit," he notes.

He comments, "The program provides a way for young people to learn the principles of business by doing business, not from books.

"Many of them find out that the way adults make a living is a pretty complex process. Later on, when they themselves enter the world of business, they will be well informed about the free enterprise system."

Hours for the trade fair at St. Clair Square, Highways 50 and 158, are 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. Friday and 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. Saturday.

Howlett to address local service clubs March 11

Michael J. Howlett, secretary of state of Illinois, will speak at the Granite City Rotary Club's joint meeting of Quid-City area service clubs at 12:15 p.m. Tuesday, March 11, at the Nimesis Recreation Hall, 2001 Pontoon Road, Granite City.

"We are happy to have Secretary Howlett as our guest speaker," Walter C. Milton, Rotary president, said this week.

"He has increased services to the public while reducing the staff during his first two years as secretary of state," Milton commented.

He said approximately 150 persons are expected to attend the luncheon meeting. Howlett is the only Democrat in history elected to four consecutive terms of statewide office in Illinois.

In 1972, he was elected as secretary of state by 172,783 votes, the largest plurality of any of the victorious Democrats on the state ticket that year.

Previously, he was auditor of public accounts for 12 years. He was the only auditor in Illinois history elected with governors of both parties.

On his first day in office as secretary of state, he ordered removal of all photographs of public officials from driver license stations.

In their place, a toll-free telephone number was posted so that any citizen with a complaint or suggestion could call the secretary's office in Springfield.

To design the bicentennial license plate for 1976, he invited all Illinois grade and high school students to participate in a contest. More than 400,000 responded. It was the first time in history that any state involved the public in the selection of color or design of its license plate.

Howlett has combined his registration and title divisions into a "RegTitle" division to speed up service and save tax money. Two new forms will replace 24 different forms used to apply for vehicle license plates and certificates of title.

For greater convenience to the public, Secretary Howlett opened all 89 Downstate full-time stations on Saturdays, and closed them on Mondays, making a Tuesday through Saturday operation schedule.

A special driver education program for senior citizens, first introduced in six Northeastern Illinois counties, is being expanded by Howlett statewide.

During World War II, Howlett served in the U. S. Navy. As regional director of the Office of Price Stabilization during the Korean conflict, he helped smash a hoarsest sales racket.

From 1952 until 1960, he was vice president of the Sun Steel Co.

He and his wife, the former Helen Goary, are parents of six children and are grandparents of three.

MICHAEL J. HOWLETT

Pakistan student Dunbar speaker

Anwar Gheewala, foreign student from Pakistan at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville gave a talk to students of grades four, five, and six at the Dunbar School, Madison. Gheewala discussed the history, geography and customs of his country. This was followed by a question and answer period.

Gheewala was born in Karachi, Pakistan, and received his elementary, high school and some college training there. He will graduate from SIUE in June with a bachelor's degree in business administration and plans to continue his education there for a master's business administration.

He then plans to go back to Pakistan. The thing that he likes best about the United States, he said, is the friendliness of the people, especially in the Midwest. The thing he misses most about his country is the food which is hot and spicy, he told the students. Gheewala's lecture was the second of a series of lectures being given by foreign students in keeping with the objectives of the new social studies (active learning) program to understand different cultures and to use more resource persons from the community area.

Bernard Long is principal of Dunbar School.

Robert Robinson, fourth grade student, introduced the speaker.

Palchiff selected

John Palchiff, sophomore at Madison High School, has been selected by the MHS staff and the Illinois Jaycees as a member of the Hugh O'Brien Leadership Circle.

The Hugh O'Brien Leadership Circle is a program developed by the movie star and the Jaycees across the country for the purpose of holding seminars for selected candidates who have great potential for leadership. It is specifically set up for high school sophomores.

Public meet March 10 on proposed overpass

A public informational meeting concerning a site location study for proposed construction of an overpass between downtown Granite City and West Granite will be held at 8 p.m. Monday, March 10, in the Frabier Junior High School cafeteria.

The meeting has been scheduled by the M. W. Architects and Engineers, Inc., St. Louis planning firm which has been given a contract by Granite City for a location study to determine the most feasible site of a grade separation. The proposed overpass would span the railroad tracks which seriously hamper traffic movement between downtown Granite City and the west section of the city.

M. W. engineers said the purpose of the meeting is to solicit public input concerning possible location alternatives for the grade separation structure. The choice of location lies between Niedringhaus Avenue or 19th, 20th or 22nd streets. The site study will determine the most feasible location from the standpoint of cost and construction requirements.

The engineering study and eventually the cost of design planning, estimated at $200,000, will be financed in part from funds Granite City will receive under the Community Development Act.

CROSSINGS BLOCKED

Granite City police were alerted Monday that a train was blocking the 19th, 20th and 21st Street crossings between West Granite City and downtown.

Officers requested that the railroad clear the crossings which were blocked for a total of about 25 minutes, officials said.

Steel payroll up $1.1 billion

Domestic steel industry payroll costs increased nearly $1.1 billion in 1974, American Iron and Steel Institute figures showed this week.

Steelmakers in the U.S. paid a total of $7,202,844,000 in wages and salaries during the year, compared with $6,810,428,000 in such payments in 1973.

The industry's total employment cost per hour for wage employees averaged $9.08 for all of 1974—a jump of $1.40 from the previous year.

The number of persons engaged in production and marketing of steel also increased during 1974. It averaged $12,400 for the year, compared with an average of $10,600 in 1973.

However, during December—primarily because of the coal strike—only 502,200 persons were so employed—the lowest one-month steel industry employment figure since March 1973.

Total employment costs per hour for hourly employees were $9.74 in December 1974, compared with a $7.68 average for 1973, including the costs of employee benefits such as pensions, insurance, supplemental unemployment benefits, the non-payroll portion of savings and vacation plan costs and legally-required payroll taxes.

The statistics cover employees engaged in production and marketing of steel and exclude those in mining, fabricating and other non-steel operations.

Leroy Booker nominated to West Point

Leroy Booker Jr. Jr. Apt. 2, Greiner Homes, Madison, has been selected as a principal candidate for appointment to West Point Military Academy, according to a notice received from Cong. Melvin Price (D-East St. Louis).

Booker is the son of Mrs. Bobbie J. Booker, and the late Leroy Booker, and is a grandson of the late Robert Kingsbury, a Madison County deputy sheriff for many years. Mayor Mike Sasyk of Madison also was notified of young Booker's appointment.

The notice from Price said Booker will be notified later by the Department of the Army of procedure for complying with the nomination requirements. Booker is a senior at Madison High School, is a member of the MHS basketball team, formerly attended Boys' State and is a member of the National Honor Society, the Yearbook staff and the Latin Club at MHS.
